Southerners Warn Ike On Rights Jury Trial

Two Textile Union Heads Are Accused

'Improper Use' Of Funds Is Charged By Senate Probers

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — Senate rackets investigators accused the two top officials of the United Textile Workers today of "improper use" of $128,405 of union funds and prodded them to resign.

The allegations of financial corruption against President Anthony Valente and Secretary-Treasurer Lloy' Klenert weighed most heavily against the latter.

Among other things, it was charged that Klenert put union money into:

A $25.20 corkscrew, $21 worth of diaper service, $40 in trampoline lessons for his wife, $2,564.65 in tickets to the Broadway hit "My Fair Lady," and $13,118 for vacations at swank hotels in Florida, Bermuda and Maine

Klenert denied nothing. He said he didn't know whether his income tax returns reflected the financial transactions.

The Senate committee probing improper labor-management practices spelled out its charges in a mimeographed bill of particulars. Most of the transactions listed were dated during the last three of the 13 years Klenert and Vale have been in office. Investigators are hazy on what happened earlier, since union records prior to 1954 have been destroyed.

Luxury Homes

However nearly half the total involved—$62,000 — was attributed to purchase in 1952 of luxury homes and equipping them with air-conditioning, plus a TV set and piano for Klenert's. All this was an old story, explored throughly before.

Klenert has been credited with repaying some $33,000 and Valente $24,000 of union money used to buy their homes in a Washington suburb.

The part of the story unfolded in detail today was that Valente put an additional $2,442 of the union money to personal use and Klenert $68,963, with Klenert alone signing the union checks which paid the bills.

All told, therefore, Klenert stood accused of milking the union of $101,963 and Valente of misusing $26,442.

His brow furrowed, Klenert sat in the witness chair, fumbled nervously with cigarettes and matches and offered the explanation that back in 1948 the union had authorized an expense account of $6,500 "which I had used from time to time for personal expenditures."

Rejects It

Committee counsel Robert Kenned, rejected that. He said all the personal expenditures compiled by

Girl Says She Killed Friend To Obtain $160

BURLINGAME, Calif., July 26 (AP)—The beaten and stabbed body of comely 19-year-old Catherine Kit Elvins of Seattle was found late yesterday in an apartment she shared with a girl companion.

Today an autopsy disclosed that Miss Elvins had been hit on the head 26 times with a flatiron, and stabbed 20 times in the chest.

Miss Elvins' roommate, Elaine Soule, also 19, was taken into custody and Dist. Atty. Keith Sorenson announced she had admitted the killing, giving robbery as the motive.

Sorenson, who said he would seek a first-degree murder indictment from the grand jury, said Miss Soule sobbed a story of being desperately in need of money, and of trying to cash a $160 check Miss Elvins had received from her mother.

"The robbery motive is pretty tough to swallow," Sorenson told newsmen. "But everything seems to confirm it—there's nothing to the contrary at this point."

Miss Elvins was the beautiful daughter of socially prominent Dr. and Mrs. Richard Elvins of Seattle, Wash. Miss Soule, a typist clerk at a lock company, came here from her home in Freeport, Long Island, N.Y.

The young women had shared an apartment for the last three months.

Sunny Or Cloudy, Forecast Tossup

Get out that sun-tan lotion. Today may be a continuation of yesterday's sunny, 91 degree weather. The weatherman says it will be partly cloudy today and tomorrow, with widely scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers. Yesterday's low reading was a cool 70.

Brownell Is 'No Good'—Truman

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., July 26 (UP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said today that Attorney General Herbert Brownell is "no good" and "would love to put me in jail."

The jail term, he hinted, might be possible if he continued his old White House practice of autographing dollar bills for friends.

In one of his bristling "give 'em hell" moods, Truman said signing bills constituted defacing U. S. currency, "which is against the law."

A spokesman for the Treasury Department in Washington disagreed with Truman's interpretation of the law but Truman said he still wasn't going to sign bills for his friends because "it's against the law."

Brownell Unreached

Brownell was in London and could not be reached immediately.

Truman said he had not received any official advice not to sign the bills. He also said he knew more about the law than did Brownell.

The Treasury Department agreed that there was a law against defacing U. S. currency. But it said signing of bills did not constitute defacing money since there is no intent to render the money unfit for use.

Starts in Jovial Mood

The former President's remarks started out in a jovial mood Thursday when Lon Gentry, architect of the Truman library building where Truman has his offices, asked him to autograph a dollar bill for a friend.

Truman declined with the comment that although he "used to order those signed. . . I've had to quit putting my name on them.

Jes' Ramblin'

A photogapher in New York City interrogated six persons as the strolled along Boardway near 42nd street the other day. Each one was asked, "Are you disappointed with New York now you've seen Broad y?"

The first replied, "No". This reply was such as he was one whose objective was shooting galleries, barkers and movies. Then he added, "but there's more mediocrity than quality along the Great White Way!"

The next person interviewed said "Most certainly I am not disappointed for the lighting of this great thoroughfare is beyond my wildest dreams!"

Person Number three admitted disappointment: "All wife and I saw was something like another Coney Island with plenty of Honky Tonky spots!"

The fourth person admitted that it failed to meet expectations and the next woman declared it was badly overrated.

Others joined in saying that it was disappointing both by day and night.

Frank answers from these six persons from widely separated places, seemed to give a reliable

World, News-Star Record Major Circulation Gains

NEW YORK, (Special) —More people are reading the Monroe News-Star and the World than ever before. Circulation has bounded upward in the last few years at a rapid rate — faster than that of the average newspapers in the United States

Data gathered from every part of the country for Editor and Publisher and for the Ayer Directory of Newspapers and Periodicals show that there has been a remarkable growth in newspaper circulation since 1950.

There are now 78,361,000 copies printed per issue by the daily and the weekly newspapers of the nation, an all-time high. The dailies are producing 56,596,000 copies a day and the weeklies, 21,765,000 per issue.

In Monroe, the News-Star and the World, which had a circulation of 27,518 in 1950, reached to 39,328 last year. It was a rise of 42.9 per cent.

Increased Appeal

That this reflects increased newspaper appeal locally is shown by the fact that it was more than the area's population gain in the period, 16.9 per cent.

With this increase, it outdistanced most papers published daily in the United States. Their gains averaged 6.1 per cent. Daily papers in the West South Central States went up 11.6 per cent, and, in the State of Arkansas, 6.4 per cent.

The steady growth of newspapers during recent years has given a clear answer to many people who had doubted the ability of the printed word to survive the advent of television.

Instead, it has been demonstrated, nothing can take the place of the newspaper. No other media, the public has found, can give the breadth of news, the local detail, the background and the perspective to be found in a good newspaper. The reader's freedom to select what of interest to him and to read it when he wishes to do so, is credited with being a prime

3,000 MAY BE DEAD

World Rain Mark Hits South Japan

NAGASAKI, Japan, Saturday, July 27 (UP)—Mounting unofficial reports from the south Japan area, where a world-record deluge ravaged two towns Thursday, said today the torrential rains may have killed as many as 3,000 persons.

At least 331 persons were known dead and 287 were officially missing in the Omura Bay area, focus of the storm that dumped 27 inches of rain in slightly more than 12 hours. More than 80,000 persons were homeless.

Disrupted communications made it impossible immediately to obtain a complete count of the dead, missing and homeless.

U. S. Bases Escape

U. S. bases in the flood area escaped serious damage. No American casualties were reported.

Rain still was falling on southern Japan early today, although the storm had lost its early force. The rainfall slackened to a drizzle Friday, but picked up new force in some areas Friday night.

The communities hit hardest by the torrent were Omura and Isahaya, a few miles from this atom-bombed south Japanese metropolis.

Some damage also was reported in Nagasaki itself and in nearby Sasebo.

'Copters Help In Rescue

Railways in the area were washed out in 51 places. All normal communications were disrupted for hours. For a time Friday the only communication link between Omura and the Tokyo area was provided by amateur radio.

Japanese press reports quoted police as saying that 2,000 to 3,000 persons were killed in Ishaya alone. Other estimates placed the total toll of the tragic storm at about 3,000.

The U. S. Air Force assigned helicopters to help Japanese military and civilian agencies carrying on rescue work.

In some cases, whole families were wiped out by landslides or flash floods. One woman, washed out to sea from Isahaya, clung to a bit of floating wood for nearly 20 hours before she was rescued by a fisherman.

Flu, Oriental Disease Shows New Outbreaks

WASHINGTON, July 26 (UP)—New outbreaks of influenza, including some cases identified as the "Oriental fly," were reported today by the Public Health Service.

The service said the Oriental fly was found in Kentucky, the Thule Air Force Base in Greenland, and among passengers aboard a military transport arriving from Seattle on July 17. Other cases were identified as suspected flu or flu-like respiratory ailments.

Among these were a respiratory illness which struck about 600 Boy Scouts at a jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa. Pennsylvania authorities said an "influenza-like illness" occurred first among the California and Louisiana contingents and spread through most sections of the jamboree.

Hardest Hit

Groups hit hardest were from South Dakota, Virginia, Colorado, New York and Puerto Rico.

The service said the outbreak among personnel at Thule Air Force Base had been identified as the Far East strain. The first case was found in a person who had arrived from Brooklyn.

Kentucky State Health Commissioner Dr. Russell T. Teague reported 100 cases of Oriental flu in the state since July 2. Thirty

VICTORIA, Tex., July 26 (UP)—Foster Air Force Base officials announced today that six F-100 jet fighters flew non-stop Thursday from the Azores to England Air Force Base, Alexandria, La.

The flight was part of current "Power Pack" exercises being held by the 19th Air Force.

Long Rapped By Architects For Statement

BATON ROUGE, July 26 (AP) — Two Baton Rouge architects said today Gov. rl Long made statements about their part in designing a highway building "which we feel were erroneous and unfair."

Sam B. Short Jr. and G. Ross Murrell, Jr., in a joint statement, referred to the governor's remarks in a news conference last Tuesday.

Long said new plans for a proposed highway structure would "save more than enough . . . to make up what we're accused of wasting in architect's fees."

Earlier, highway director R. B. Richardson had discarded plans drafted by Short and Murrell and assigned A. Hays Town of Baton Rouge to blueprint the proposed three-million-dollar structure.

Not Practical

"The previous plans were not practical," Long told a press conference. "The building was scattered over a large area . . . the architects were young, inexperienced . . . . They were supposed to confer with our architect. But I understand they conferred with him very little."

Under former Gov. Robert Kennon, Short and Murrell drafted initial plans. Short is the son of a former highway board chairman under Kennon.

Just before Long took office his followers used a taxpayer's lawsuit to block contracts for the proposed building. Short and Murrell filed suit for their fee, and a lower court awarded them $136,465, but they said they haven't collected it yet.

Again Refused

To all this, Short and Murrell replied: After the lower court judgment in their favor, the Highway Department again refused to pay, and appealed to the State Supreme Court. The matter is still pending.

"He said the plans for the building 'cost the state' $136,465," they complained. "By saying this he conveyed the impression that this firm has been paid its fees for work done in planning the building. This is not true.

"When the present state administration decided against proceeding with construction," the architects said, "we submitted our bill for services rendered in accordance with our written contract with the Highway Department. The department refused to pay, forcing us to file suit for payment of our claims."

'Cast Aspersions'

The governor made reference to their youth, the architects said, "casting what we believe to be aspersions on our professional ability. During the five years this firm has been in existence, it has

Houston Barber Shoots Wife, Then Suicides

HOUSTON, July 26 (UP)—Factory workers watched in horror today as a 43-year-old barber fatally wounded his estranged wife and then killed himself.

The woman, Mrs. Fanniel Lou Lane, 49, died on the operating table of a Houston hospital. Her husband, Val Lane, died instantly after he put a .38 caliber pistol to his head and pulled the trigger.

The shooting took place at the Dexter Diaper factory. More than a half dozen workers watched the shooting. One witness said Lane came into the building and walked up to the sewing machine where Mrs. Lane worked.

"He said he wanted to talk to her a minute," the witness said. Then Lane opened fire on his wife and then shot himself. Police said he carried a divorce document in his hand.

Report On Legion Resolutions Due

The 39th annual American Legion convention of Louisiana moves into its second day of action today with full reports of the resolutions committee scheduled this morning.

Numerous committee resolutions were recommended in meetings yesterday, but convention officials said the resolutions would not be disclosed until this morning.

The conventioners will assemble at the Ouachita parish High Auditorium at 9:30 a.m. and the report of the resolutions committee is expected to be heard before noon.

Publications committee chairman Leonard Jackson will announce the recipients of the newspaper awards at the general assembly also. Other announcements will be on the program.

The convening members of the Legion, Auxiliary and the Forty and Eight will take this afternoon off and will be entertained with a band concert at 5 p.m. at the Legion Home in Forsythe Park.

Barbecue And Dance

A barbecue will follow with a dance planned for 9 p.m. on the roof of the Virginia Hotel, headquarters for the convention.

Highlighting yesterday's program, the executive committee of the Legion voted a contribution of $10,000 toward construction of a rehabilitation center and hospital in Cameron parish.

Announcement of the contribution came at the general assembly yesterday morning. An additional $50,000, which would be under-

Find Forceps In Body Of Chicago Man

CHICAGO, July 26 (UP)—Hospital authorities said today they could not locate a pair of forceps found earlier in the body of a patient.

Deputy Coroner Cornelius Dore ordered Woodlawn hospital to produce the forceps by Aug. 2 or face legal action.

The five-inch forceps were found Thursday during an autopsy on the body of Joseph Olson, 59, a carpenter and a native of Sweden.

Olson had been brought into Woodlawn hospital Tuesday suffering from stomach cramps and nausea. He died Wednesday.

On June 28, he underwent a stomach operation at the hospital to correct adhesions from previous surgery. Previously, he had undergone three abdominal operations, two of them at Woodlawn.

An inquest to discover the cause of Olson's death opened today and hit a snag immediately when Detective Thomas Ormand reported

IN ANSWER TO SUIT

Physician Denies Loving Old Widow For Her Money

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., July 26 (AP)—A New Orleans physician denied categorically today that he induced a wealthy old Syracuse, N. Y., widow to enrich him by pretending to make love to her.

Dr. Walter G. Robinson, 40, filed his answer to a damage suit of the late Mrs. Marie Arnold Chapin's son, Arnold, and the Lincoln National Bank, Syracuse, N. Y., her executors. The action seeks return of half a million dollars in valuables and a like amount in punitive damages.

Robinson also filed statements of defense and motions to strike out some sections of the plaintiff's allegations.

Went To N. O.

The doctor, formerly of Palm Beach, where Mrs. Chapin had a home, went to New Orleans to take employment at a veterans hospital. He was represented in circuit court today by counsel.

Mrs. Chapin died in 1956 at the age of 85. The plaintiffs contend that gifts and bequests of Mrs. Chapin to Dr. Robinson were made under undue influence. The doctor's answer states that Mrs. Chapin had competent and disinterested advice, acted on her own free will, was of sound mind and dominant character, and clearly understood each gift and transaction.

Effected Transfer

Robinson contended further that the plaintiffs had full knowledge of the gifts and that the bank even effected the transfer to Robinson of stock given him by Mrs. Chapin. Robinson said Mrs. Chapin's son knew of the transactions at the time but failed to institute suit until long after his mother's death.

The doctor cited two confirmatory codicils to Mrs. Chapin's will as evidence that the original gifts were made in good faith.

His motion to strike out portions of the allegation denies having received cash for a European trip and for paying off a mortgage on a Palm Beach house.

Guarantee Sought In New Action

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — Three Democratic senators proposed today that the civil rights bill be amended to guarantee jury trials for all types of criminal contempt, including labor cases.

The broad new amendment was offered by Sens. O'Mahoney Wyo. Kefauver, Tenn. and Church, Idaho.

They were promptly congratulated by Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) on their "attempt to preserve the right of trial by jury." Russell had served notice earlier in the day that Southern senators would filibuster unless the civil rights bill is softened by a jury trial amendment.

In effect, the new amendment would revise the general law governing contempt-of-court cases.

Kefauver described it as "a great advance of civil liberties because, as now presented, this amendment does not apply to this bill alone."

"It covers all actions for contempt," Kefauver said. "It can well assure labor unions of their day in court before a jury of their peers-something that was done in the Norris-LaGuardia Act by which has been largely nullified through the Taft-Hartley Act."

In some quarters the new move was interpreted as an attempt to get labor behind a jury trial amendment and woo the votes of those Northern senators now opposed to any change in the bill.

No Stand

A spokesman for the AFL-CIO said his organization's policymakers hadn't seen the new amendment yet and consequently hadn't taken a stand on it.

Up to now, he said, the AFL-CIO has been opposed to any jury trial amendment, feeling that in voting rights case the time required for such a trial would be "a negation of the right to vote"—that is, that the election would be

Thief Returns To Hear Billy Graham Speak

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—A man accused of stealing $500 in offerings at one of Billy Graham's crusade meetings by impersonating an usher turned up at Graham's services tonight. He had previously spurned the evangelist's offer of help.

Louis Silver, 46, out on $2,500 bail pending a hearing, talked privately with Graham tonight at Madison Square Garden. Graham afterward said only that he had promised to help the man find a job, and that he "seemed interested" in Graham's religious message.

Silver did not come forward during the services, however, to make a "decision for Christ."

Silver was arrested at Yankee Stadium Saturday night, where 100,000 persons attended the largest rally ever held by the North Carolina preacher in the United States. Authorities charged he collected offerings under the pretense of being an authorized usher.

Graham went to Bronx County courthouse Thursday to see the accused a former Los Angeles liquor salesman. Silver is charged with second-degree grand larceny, criminal receipt of stolen property

Army Banishes Col. Nickerson

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—The Army today banished Col. John C. Nickerson to an obscure job in the Panama Canal Zone.

Nickerson, a missiles expert, was convicted of failing to safeguard secrets.

The Army issued an order reassigning the career officer from his post at the Army Ballistics Missile Agency, Huntsville, Ala., to become an "inspector of engineering facilities" at Ft. Clayton, Canal Zone.

The order itself was in the form of routine transfer of assignment. But its issuance permits application of some of the punishment provided by his court-martial.

That trial grew out of charges that he sent to newsmen and other unauthorized persons a document arguing against the limitation of the Army's role in the ballistic missile field. The document, the charges said, contained secret material.

An Army spokesman, replying to questions, disclosed that under terms of the sentence imposed on the 41-year-old West Point graduate, his status in Panama will be like this:

1. His job will be inspection of such things as facilities of the canal, its locks, machinery, and installations on military posts. He will have a job "not associated with guided missiles or research and development in any way."

2. The man who has been working on the most secret of Army projects will be denied access to anything but the lowest form of classified material, "confidential."

3. Under the sentence which suspended him from command for one year he will not be permitted to issue any orders to any officer, no matter how junior.

4. By interpretation of the court-martial sentence, Nickerson and his family—when they arrive in Panama during the next 30 days—will have to accept housing after all other officers, including lieutenants newly arrived, have made their choice. (The sentence stripped him of privileges of command during a one-year period.)

The Army said the Nickerson case is now ended. A spokesman said a study of the record of the court-martial was completed this afternoon by the office of the judge advocate general and that nothing in the record appeared unsupported by law. The spokesman said, "The findings are conclusive."

No full-scale appellate review of the case is required, the spokesman said, adding that appellate action is not required where a sentence involves no imprisonment.

Nickerson also was sentenced to forfeit $100 a month in pay for 15 months.

Mrs. Z. Gray Dies At Home In California

ALTADENA, Calif., July 26 (UP)—Lina Grey, widow of the late western writer Zane Grey, died today at her home. She was 74.

Mrs. Grey suffered a stroke Sunday and had been in a coma since that time. Prior to the stroke she had been in good health.

Grey, the New York dentist, who made a million dollars by building the cowboy tale into a $2 novel, died Oct. 23, 1939, at the age of 64.

The popular novelist turned out more than 50 works in his trophy-hung study. He wrote them all in long-hand at the surprising rate of 100,000 words a month and perhaps was best known for his "Riders of the Purple Sage," written in 1912. It has sold more than four million copies.

After the writer's death his widow agreed to publication of others of his manuscripts. Last year she sold television rights to his works, for "The Zane Grey Theater," a popular series on CBS—TV.

Grey quit dentistry when his patients told him he ought to be writing down the yarns he told them. More than 20 million copies of his works have been sold.

Winnsboro Store Burglary Solved

WINNSBORO (Special) — The burglary of the Western Auto Store in Winnsboro was solved yesterday afternoon by the arrest of two local juveniles. Deputy Sheriffs Ellis Tarver and Ray Lynch made the investigation and arrests.

Information provided by Louie Boyle, Winnsboro night marshal, led to the solution. The store was broken into Tuesday night and J. A. Holms reported one gas pellet gun, two switch-blade knives, one wrist watch, two dollars in change and several boxes of .22 short range cartridges missing.

When the boys were arrested yesterday the loot was recovered. They also had one .22 rifle, a flashlight, and another watch taken from the store, but had not been missed, officers said.

The juveniles had been paroled to their parents after being apprehended in Bastrop about a month ago with a motor scooter stolen in Winnsboro, officers said. The boys are in the Franklin Parish jail and will be turned over the the juvenile authorities.

Daniel Praises Legion For Its Fight On Reds

HOUSTON, July 26 (UP)—Gov. Price Daniel urged the American Legion today to keep up its fight against communism.

He spoke to a standing room only audience of 1,400 delegates to the state convention at the Rice hotel.

The Texas governor got his biggest hand when he hailed the defeat by the House of Representatives Thursday of the federal school aid bill.

"I have always opposed federal aid to our schools because with federal aid goes federal control," he said.

ON CIGARETTES

FTC Asks Power To Combat Deceptive, Misleading Cigarette Advertising

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission today asked Congress for more power to combat any cigarette advertising that it considers deceptive and misleading.

Acting FTC Chairman Robert T. Secrest said the commission's past efforts to police the industry's 85 million-dollar-a-year advertising has presented "unusual difficulties."

He said these have been made "all the more serious because of the newly raised serious health question."

He referred, in testimony before a House Government Operations subcommittee, to the July 12 Public Health Service statement that "there is an increasing and consistent body of evidence that excessive cigarette smoking is one of the causative factors in lung cancer."

Some researchers appearing before the subcommittee have challenged the validity of statistical findings that suggest a cause-and-effect relationship between tobacco smoke and cancer.

Secrest asked specifically for power to get quick court injunctions against what the FTC considers misleading advertising claims. He said the commission tried this once, back in 1952, but the federal courts rejected its attempt to classify cigarettes as "drugs" under the Food and Drug Act.

Subcommittee Chairman Blatnik (D-Minn) said he favored some kind of a labelling law for cigarettes, declaring, "You've got to give the consumer a chance."

"Labels should just state the content, so much tar and nicotine, so that if I bought cigarettes I'd know there were so many milligrams of tar in this king size cigarette and so much in that filter tip," he said.

"The consumer today has no idea at all what's in those cigarettes he's buying. Despite the hundreds of millions of dollars spent for advertising by the tobacco industry, the average consumer doesn't know what he's getting."

Blatnik suggested the cigarette industry might take a tip from liquor ads that urge moderation in drinking.

RAF Calls Off Its Attack On Arab Rebels

SHARJA, Trucial Oman, July 26 (UP) — Royal Air Force pilots spotted the red flag of the pro-British Sultan of Muscat and Oman flying atop a rebel fort today and all aerial operations against the insurgents were suspended.

Cease-fire orders followed two days of intensive aerial rocket and machinegun attacks on rebel fortifications and came just as plans were being made for a ground assault in this steaming sultanate on the east coast of the Arabian peninsula.

An RAF spokesman announced the suspension of operations when the sultan's flag was seen waving from the fort at Izki which had been one of the rebel strongholds.

Leaflets calling on the rebels to give up their revolt and support the sultan would be dropped over the entire area Saturday, the spokesman said.

The rebels, through a spokesman in Cairo, claimed that Communist China had offered them support.

The spokesman, Sheik Mohammed El Harithy, said the Chinese embassy in Cairo offered him but did not specify what kind.

INFANTRY ACCIDENT

Mistake In Copying Data Blamed In Death Of Four

FORT SILL, Okla., July 26 (UP)—A mistake in copying artillery firing data was blamed today for an accident that claimed the lives of four soldiers in a public demonstration here June 22.

An investigating board, which made its report after a month's investigation, said that court martial and other disciplinary action would be taken against those found negligent. Names of those involved were withheld pending filing of charges.

Earlier it was believed that a defective "short round" of ammunition caused a shell to explode prematurely in an infantry company, killing four men and injuring 14.

But the board ruled that someone transposed an order, causing an intended short-range round to be fired after, instead of before, troops had advanced into the target area.

The board explained that the reverse order of firing caused the first shells to fall ahead of the intended range, and the infantry moved in close to the artillery fire in order to fully utilize its cover and protection.

Officers said the infantry then requested the artillery to fire on the second area at a greater range. The artillery battery used the reversed data, causing the shells to fall in the area already occupied by an infantry platoon.

The board said that after the first round fell, the officer in charge immediately halted all firing, but three or four rounds already fired and in the air continued to fall and these killed the four soldiers.

Officials stated that all artillery units fired on each area before the demonstration and adjusted their file with the latest corrections.

"Extreme care was exercised in obtaining the exact adjustment," the board said. "When this adjustment was obtained, each unit was required to record the firing data and to use it for the demonstration. Personnel of the mortar battery copying this data from the record transposed the target areas."

IN DILEMMA

Humane Society For Animals To Branch Out

INDIANAPOLIS, July 26 (UP)—A humane society for animals, which says it's inheriting money faster than it can spend it, today asked permission to branch out and help humans.

The Indianapolis Humane Society said its dilemma has come about because about $35,000 worth of stock willed to it 22 years ago now is worth about $750,000.

The stock was given to the humane society with the specific requirement that its proceeds be spent for the care of animals.

The only trouble is that the society simply cannot spend all its money merely by rescuing stray cats and dogs. So now the society has asked the Marion probate court to allow it to expand.

"We would like to use some of the money for some kind of animal hospital," Society President Archie Knoppla said. "Also, we'd like to consider offering some scholarships to encourage youths to be veterinarians."

The society's fortune began to grow in 1935, when Miss Mary Powell Crume, an Indianapolis native who died in Dayton, Ohio, left 285 shares of International Business Machine Inc. stock, then worth about $35,000.

In the ensuing years, however, the stock split and resplit so rapidly that by last year the humane society found itself with 1,301 shares, worth $750,000. It would have had more than $1,090,000 worth of the stock had it not sold some.

"We have checked on the problem of grossly inadequate nursing homes," Knoppla told the court. "Now, if possible, we'd like to perhaps consider establishing some kind of home for elderly people."

Lone Ranger Is Faster In Auto

DURHAM, N. C., July 26 (UP)— The highway patrol won't mind if the Lone Ranger "rides again" in North Carolina—But they hope next time he won't ride so fast.

Clayton Moore, who plays the Lone Ranger on television, was jockeying a powerful car instead of his faithful horse Silver Thursday night when the patrol clocked him at 70 miles an hour. Patrolman E. R. Kirby gave him a ticket.

DEMOS BLAME PRESIDENT

Ike Disappointed Over Defeat Of School Bill

WASHINGTON, July 26 (UP)—President Eisenhower expressed "great disappointment" today over defeat of the $1,500,000,000 federal school bill. But Democrats commented that he had only himself to blame

The Democrats said Eisenhower could have reversed the narrow 208 to 203 vote by which the House sidetracked the bill merely by telephoning a dozen GOP members. Some Republicans also had qualified criticism of the President.

Marion B. Folsom, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare also voiced disappointment at the outcome. Some of Folsom's aides put it much stronger. They said the secretary had "fought down to the wire" for the measure and would have liked more "emphatic" White House support.

Last Move Fails ... ...

Supporters of the measure were bitter particularly because they felt they had victory almost in their grasp when wily Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) offered the successful proposal to ditch the legislation.

They had agreed at the last minute on a new compromise tailored to satisfy Eisenhower and figured it had the votes to pass. But a Republican-southern Democratic coalition voted with Smith to kill the bill before the compromise could be brought up.

Mrs Anne Wheaton, associate White House press secretary, said the President "expressed great disappointment that the House did not see its way to pass an appropriate measure to meet the critical shortage of public schools."

Amendment Added

Mrs. Wheaton said he made the remark at a White House breakfast conference with Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland. She said she did not know whether Eisenhower relayed his views to Republican congressional leaders generally.

On a party basis, 111 Republicans voted to kill the bill and 77 to keep it alive. Among the Democrats, 126 voted to keep it alive and 97 to kill it.

Before killing the measure, the House added an amendment by Rep. Stuyvesant Wainwright (R-N. Y.) to refuse any of the funds to school districts with segregated schools. The vote on that was 136 to 105.

"I lay defeat of the bill squarely at the feet of the President," said Rep. Augustine B Kelley D Pa.), chief sponsor of the defeated plan.

Free Of Murder Charges; Fined On Two Others

LEWES, England, July 26 (UP)—Dr. John B. Adams, acquitted earlier this year of murdering a wealthy widow with an overdose of drugs, was fined $6,720 today for forgery and illegal use of narcotics.

Adams pleaded guilty to 14 counts of a 16-count indictment alleging irregularities in his practice of medicine in the resort town of Eastbourne. The two counts to which he pleaded innocent were dropped.

Pay Immediately

Defense counsel Edward Clarke promised that the fine would be paid immediately.

There appeared to be no reason to suppose that the portly provincial practitioner would have any difficulty providing the money. Witnesses at today's trial said he has a $72,000 bank account and an investment income of $5,600 a year, augmented over the last 10 years by some $8,400 a year in legacies from grateful patients.

Prepared Case

Scotland Yard Superintendent Herbert ("The Count") Hannam, who prepared the case against Adams, told the court the middle-aged bachelor has an 18-room home in Eastbourne, with four automobiles and a staff of four—housekeeper, secretary, receptionist and chauffeur.

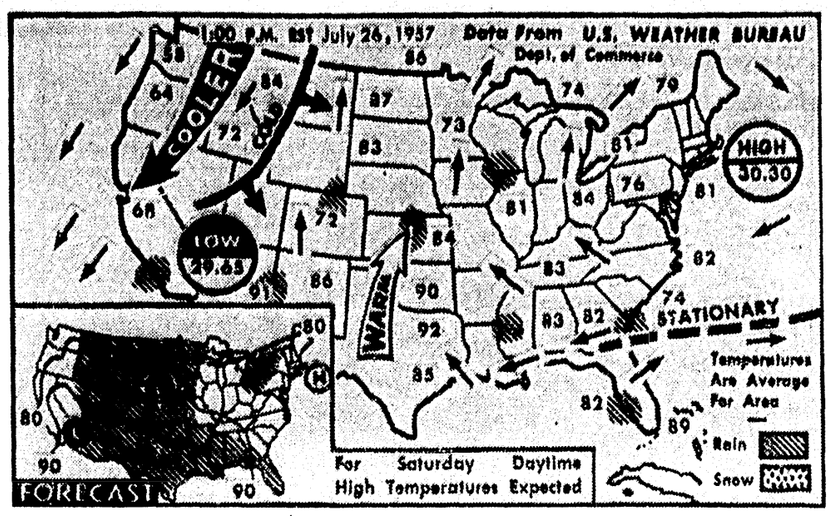
Adams has abandoned the practice of medicine. He says he intends to retire. His surgery in Eastbourne has been closed. Other doctors have taken over his patients.

Although Eastbourne traditionally is a haven for retired Englishmen, Adams is not expected to continue living there. He has been reported planning to return to northern Ireland where he was born.

Amateur Bandit Admits Robbery

HOUSTON, July 26 (UP)—Amateur bank bandit Dan Moody Jones today pleaded guilty to a charge of holding up the Bank of Texas for $1,785 on June 1.

Jones, 28-year-old New Orleans man, was captured minutes after he held up the bank with a toy cowboy six-shooter. He said he decided to rob the bank after drinking a pint of whisky.



WEATHER FORECAST—Scattered showers are expected in the Gulf coast states and most of area from Mississippi River westward into Rockies, with a chance of rains also in upstate New York as well as western and central Pennsylvania. Mostly sunny skies will prevail elsewhere. It will be warmer in most of the eastern third of U.S.; cooler in most of northern Plains and northern Rockies. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Ward 5 Negro School Opens

OAK RIDGE (Special) — The tax payers of the fifth ward of Morehouse Parish have completed a project that has been being worked on for a number of years. When the school bell rang for the Negro children of this community for their summer session, they were able to enter the doors of one of the finest schools in this section of the state.

The new one - story school is a brick and cement block structure on a concrete foundation. The 20 class rooms are furnished with the modern necessary furniture and the floors are beige and green asphalt tile, with the exception of the principal's office which has blue tile. The two restrooms for the pupils are of pink and blue ceramic tile, as well as the one for the teachers.

Renovated

The old building located on the same grounds is being renovated and will be made into a cafeteria and auditorium with two rooms left for instructional purposes.

The eight elementary schools in this ward have been consolidated into this one school. There are 629 pupils registered for the summer term with twenty one teachers.

Milton A. Jackson is principal of the school and his faculty members are Irene M. Jackson, Eliza D. Pierce, Darline Smith, Callie Mae Calvin, Vashti S. Crowder, Willie D. Joseph, Doris Joseph, Gertrude Tappin, Simmie C. Smith, Selena Chatman, Hilda M. Golsby, Ruby E. Mitchell, Etta M. Davenport, Mary Lee Corgile, Cleophas Dorsey, Inez Grant, Mable H. Johnson, Sophronia Y. Johnson, Mamie M. Barkley and Lomia Jacobs. Ruby Lee Hamilton is a substitute teacher for the summer months.

ON JACKSON ST.

Boy, 14, Hurt In Collision Of Auto, Bicycle

An auto - bicycle accident at 3:13 p.m. yesterday sent a 14-year-old Monroe youth to St. Francis hospital with a leg injury.

Richard Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Scott of 1015 Mississippi and a carrier for the News-Star—World rode his bicycle from a driveway straight out into the 500 block of Jackson street.

At that instant, a car driven by Luther M. Hamlin, 41, Negro of Chatham, going north on Jackson street, came along and the car and bike collided, throwing the boy to the street.

Monroe police were notified, and a Mulhearn ambulance took the boy to St. Francis hospital, where X-rays were taken to determine the extent of injuries. He complained of soreness in his right leg.

The right front of the Hamlin car was damaged by the impact of the collision. No charges were filed.

MAN CHARGED IN ACCIDENT

LAFAYETTE — UP — C. J. Henry of Lafayette was charged with negligent homicide Thursday in connection with the car accident which killed Milton Cormier, 33, Negro, former Lafayette police officer. Police chief Carbo Listi said police are continuing an investigation into the accident.

Two Children Hurt Slightly In Auto Crash

Two children were slightly injured, one car was badly damaged, and a milk - truck and another vehicle were also smashed in during an accident yesterday morning in West Monroe.

It all started when Mrs. Charles Elkins of Rayville, driving a milk truck, went through a stop sign on N. Fifth street, according to police, and crashed into the side of an auto driven by Mrs. Ruth Coates of West Monroe.

The Coates vehicle was rammed against a third car halted for a stop sign on North Fifth street, and driven by Paul Keller, Jr., of Monroe. Mrs. Coates' seven-year old daughter suffered a bump on the head in the collision, and the Coates car was extensively damaged.

The eight-year-old son of Mrs. Elkins, riding in the milk truck, received bruises on one leg. Neither child was hospitalized.

Black And Red Justice?

Resolutions adopted by the Georgia legislature have demanded impeachment of six members of the United States supreme court, accusing them of giving comfort and aid to the enemies of this country.

Specific decisions rendered by each of the justices intended to show sympathy with and support of Communist party activities were given. The number and nature of such decisions could well lead anyone to believe that certain members of the supreme court are, at the least, sympathetic with the Communist party, an avowed enemy of the American government.

Anyone outside the supreme court who had committed so many acts to support the communist party could well be accused of giving aid and comfort to the enemy.

The record of Justice Douglas appears to be blacker and redder, if possible, than that of any other member of the court. Since it would take too much space to give the record of each member, we will cite some of the decisions by Douglas that have shocked the nation time after time.

The record shows that Justice Douglas ruled that:

William Schneiderman, a proved, avowed and ardent Communist, could be "attached to the principles of the United States constitution" within the meaning of the naturalization laws of congress and that, therefore, he was not subject to denaturalization and deportation. (This action was seen as nullifying a law passed by congress to protect this country from its enemies.)

The separate states of the union had no right to regulate public education practices, as guaranteed to them under the 10th amendment. (This was a part of the famous "black Monday" decision made by Douglas and other members of the supreme court in which the integration of Negroes into white schools, against the will of the people and the laws of the southern states, was ordered.)

Held that the 5th amendment, enacted during the time of slavery and by slave owners, now forbids the separation of black children and white children in the schools. (This was a major part of the "black Monday" decisions ending segregation. This decision upset precedent established in former rulings of the supreme court and, in conjunction with the above ruling, took away the right of states to regulate education as guaranteed to them under the 10th amendment.)

Extended race integration to include bus and other public transportation, whether within interstate commerce or within a single state, thus removing another of the rights guaranteed to the states. (This action was seen as usurping legislative powers belonging to congress. These "unlawful acts" were said to violate portions of the 14th, fifth, ninth and 10th amendments to the constitution.)

Granted stay of execution for the infamous Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted and sentenced to death for wartime espionage, on the intervention of a "convicted dissolute person." (Douglas was a dissenter when the Rosenberg conviction was upheld by the supreme court. His action in granting a stay made it necessary for the court to hold a special session to set aside his order. This was construed as giving aid to the Communist enemy.)

Took away the rights of the states to try enemies of the country on charges of espionage and treason.

Held that the federal government need not pay riparian owners compensation for seizure of riparian rights on navigable streams.

Held that trees growing upon Louisiana land between the low and high water marks of a river could be "despotically" appropriated by the United States without incurring liability to the owners of the land. (This was regarded as government seizure of private property without compensation.)

Held that the city of New York had violated the constitution of the United States by discharging a public employe who refused to answer questions relative to his communistic activities.

Held that the congress is powerless to obtain information from communists who claim immunity under the fifth amendment.

Held that the F. B. I. must open its private files to all communists placed on trial.

Held that congress cannot question witnesses without first disclosing the purpose of the investigation and what it is intended to show.

Ruled that American soldiers in other countries can be tried by foreign powers, thus denying them the right of a jury trial by their own peers (fellow citizens) as guaranteed under the constitution.

Records of some of the other members of the high court are almost as bad. Chief Justice Warren seems to have set out upon a course calculated to exceed even that of Douglas. Douglas leads him only in the fact that he has participated in more decisions.

In addition to these two, impeachment of Justices Black, Frankfurter, Reed and Clark also was proposed.

Fifth District Congressman Otto E. Passman, in a recent letter to a Monroe resident, said that information concerning the supreme court, except its public decisions, not only is not available to the public but is not available to members of congress. The congressman said he could not obtain a list of the employes of the Supreme court.

Teachers' Pay Problem

Now that Governor Earl K. Long and Revenue Collector James Reily have spoken their pieces on the matter of pay increases for teachers, the question arises, "Where will the teachers go now in their search for new taxes to meet the pay hikes?"

Long and Reily were not encouraging in regard to the proposed increase in Louisiana's gas-gathering tax, since they indicated that the amount proposed to be assessed against the gas-producing companies would not be half enough to meet the teachers' salary increase for the 1958-59 term or for the succeeding years.

Reily said the proposed tax would bring in about enough money to assure the teachers of the pay they are getting now for a short time but would be only a stop-gap proposition and would not even meet this need permanently. The collector pointed out that it had first been estimated that the full salary increase for the teachers would take about $32 million a year. However, he said, with only half of the authorized increase being paid, the sum required was $25 million. To meet the full sum next year, he estimated $60 million would be required.

Reily said the extra revenues from the gas-gathering tax would not guarantee as much as "50 per cent implementation for the year 1958-59," since the number of teachers is rapidly increasing.

It is obvious that the teachers cannot go around arbitrarily selecting the specific industries or businesses which must put up the extra money for their salary increases. They should not try to make these selections—either against the gas-producing companies or anyone else. They should leave the unpleasant task of imposing new taxes — if this must be done—to the legislature.

The Open Road

Roads are clogged with tourists, and from seashores, lakes, rivers and mountains the news is that the annual summer trek of Americans seeking a brief respite from workaday cares and the heat is setting new records.

When August approaches, the summer vacation season reaches a peak along with the temperature, and cash registers of hotels, motels, service stations and other enterprises catering to tourists produce a merry sound.

Reports from Yellowstone, long regarded as the bellweather of the national parks, are that records set in recent years are again being broken as hundreds of thousands of Americans converge on that popular oasis. Millions of dollars have been invested in new facilities, which are still inadequate to accommodate the crowds during its brief season.

Noted also this summer is an upsurge in vacationers going to Florida, southern California and other areas which in the past were regarded as winter vacation spots. Southern spas are proving increasingly attractive to summer tourists, and this is a trend that may grow enormously as misconceptions of summer weather at many points are discarded.

Biggest Epidemic In Years

BASCOM TIMMONS

Legal Effects Of Recent Supreme Court Decisions Are Under Study

One principal objective of the subcommittee of the house judiciary committee, headed by Rep. Edwin E. Willis (Dem. - La.) which is studying the legal effects of recent U. S. supreme court decisions will be to determine what has become of states' rights under the court's interpretations.

In its recent determinations of what the court believes the law should be, rather than what congress meant it to be, the highest judicial body, according to reports from many federal judges and U. S. attorneys has created a confusion which disrupts law enforcement in the entire U. S.

That demands action by Congress and will require a considerable time, as the Willis committee will not have concluded its hearings before adjournment. Its first step is to inquire into the effects of individual decisions by the court. Following this course, its ultimate recommendation may be that the court's appellate powers, meaning the extent of its authority to review lower court decisions should be limited by congressional action.

Among the decisions now listed for consideration are the following:

The Mallory case, in which the court threw out the confession of a confessed rapist, taken during the 7½ hours between his arrest and arraignment. Mallory, a Negro charged with rape of a white woman, went free by the court's action. As a result police everywhere are uncertain whether they can question a defendant before arraignment, and whether they can even listen to a voluntary confession at the scene of the crime, much less put it in writing.

The cases of two former Communists denied permission to practice law in California and New Mexico by the state boards of bar examiners. The supreme court said they should have been admitted thus denying in effect the right of any state to deny persons with subversive records licenses as CPAs, doctors or in any other regulated field. This was an unprecedented limitation of states' rights.

The Jenks case, in which the court said that defense attorneys shall have access to FBI records. As a result of this decision, Rep. Willis says that many federal judges are directing that all evidence in government hands be turned over to the defense. One U. S. attorney has informed him that a district judge has permitted defense attorneys to examine grand jury records before the grand jury investigation is concluded. Elsewhere, federal judges have granted defense lawyers almost unlimited access to FBI files.

Legislation to correct this situation has been introduced in both house and senate. One possible solution would be for the judge to decide whether material in the file may be used to check on the testimony of FBI agents for accuracy, but for that purpose only, upon the request of defense lawyers.

The FBI was also strictly limited in its power to track down and arrest suspected subversives by a decision in a California case in which new trials were ordered for three defendants convicted of harboring a convicted Communist fugitive. In this case, Associate Justice Tom C. Clark of Texas asserted in a minority opinion that for the first time, a majority of the highest court had decided that the facts in the case were different than those presented to the jury, which Clark said was not within the court's powers as determined over its 168 year history.

Heretofore it has decided questions of law, relying on lower courts to determine the facts.

The committee's jurisdiction does not include the Steve Nelson case, in which the supreme court held that the Smith Act made state anti - sedition laws unenforceable, though Rep. Howard W. Smith (Dem. - Va.) author of the act, said it had no such intent. That case was decided in 1956 and the Willis group's authority is limited to inquiry into cases decided at the last term of court. But the question of state authority to try subversives will be brought up in connection with other cases.

As to the Watkins and Sweezy cases, where the court questioned the investigative powers of congress, both houses are considering legislation which will define those powers clearly.

The Willis inquiry is not regarded by its chairman as an investigation of the U. S. supreme court. But it may result in action by congress limiting the court's authority, which is only generally defined in the Constitution, and denying it the rights to unbalance the powers of the other two branches of government.

Banks In Finland Guarantee Deposits Against Inflation

Take a deep breath and imagine this.

Imagine that you could go to any bank or any savings institution in this country and do the following with your savings:

You could deposit your money in an "A" account — an account tied by law to the government's official price index. When and as the cost of living rose, your bank would compensate you IN FULL for every penny loss in the purchasing power of your deposit.

In short, your deposit would be 100 per cent protected against inflation, although you would have to pay an income tax on any extra compensation you received.

Or you could deposit your money in a "B" account, also tied by law to the official price index. When and as prices rose, you would be compensated to the extent of half the climb in the cost of living.

But the extra money you received in your account would be tax-free. You would have 50 per cent protection against inflation and the interest you received on your deposit would be completely tax-exempt.

In either account, your deposit would earn regular interest too.

The regular interest would be 1 per cent less than the rate paid on accounts without any cost-of-living protection, but still you would get 4¾ per cent a year.

Think of this — and you now know the choices the citizens of Finland have today when they deposit money in any type of financial institution — a commercial bank, savings bank, cooperative society, etc.

This is the length to which Finland's financial institutions have been forced to go to attract bank deposits from that nation's inflation-scarred citizens

This is the extent to which a highly civilized nation is now trying to protect her citizens from a slump in the buying power of money.

For several months, I had been hearing vague rumors about what was going on in Finland, but I could not get the details. Early this month, though, I attended Colgate University's Foreign Policy Conference, and on the Colgate campus I met, talked with and arranged to obtain the facts from an official of the Finnish Embassy.

Before me now is the whole record of Finland's revolutionary experiment in "insuring" her citizens' bank deposits against inflation.

It is a story which should be of intense interest to every American and which should be studied by experts the world over.

Finland actually introduced the idea of linking compensation on bank deposits to cost of living increases in 1955, but it wasn't until inflation in Finland reached the blow-off stage last year that the innovation captured the public's interest. A general strike in 1956 led to an explosive hike in wages and prices and a sickening depreciation of the Finnmark's buying power. Finnish citizens, who have had some bitter experiences with inflation, became terrified of what might be ahead. They not only stopped depositing any money in financial institutions; they began withdrawing huge amounts of deposits from the banks in order to place the cash in government bonds which had a cost-of-living clause to protect holders against price rises, paid a high rate of interest and were tax-free.

Finland's financial structure was crippled. Her banks couldn't take it. At the end of 1956 they reached an agreement with the Ministry of Finance, and since the start of 1957, commercial banks as well as all other types of financial institutions have been offering the so-called index-tied accounts which I described at the beginning of this report.

Monday's column will conclude this exclusive report on one of our era's most fascinating financial developments.

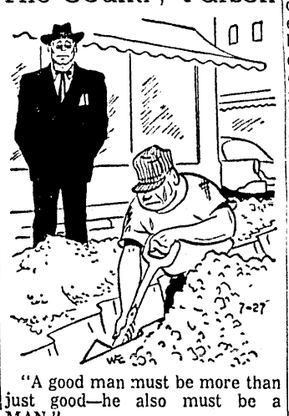
Daily Devotions

That which is crooked cannot be made straight; and that which is wanting cannot be numbered. — Ecc. 1:15.

We sometimes try to excuse unrighteousness and sin as something that is expedient and necessary. We are prone to do less than our best on the job with the excuse that we are not being paid what we are worth. Or, we sacrifice principles and "go along with the crowd" to avoid being called odd and old - fashioned. We must remember, however, that no sort of evasion can excuse wrong conduct. Sin is sin in all its garbs.

Loving Father, guide us in our conduct especially when we are tempted to embrace "little sins" and secret faults. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

The Country Parson



"A good man must be more than just good—he also must be a MAN."

Kindly Judge May Become Confederate Of Anarchist

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Forgive us our virtues when they carry us to extremes! The upright man becomes the bent-backwards pietist. The dignified and eloquent statesman becomes the pompous and bombastic windmill. The kindly judge with tolerance for human frailty becomes the duped confederate of the thief, the traitor, the anarchist and the vandal who prey upon a law-abiding, long-suffering community.

This overextension of goodness seems to have happened to the Supreme Court since we commenced worshipping the graven image called "the common man." It is a political form of commandment - breaking which the House Subcommittee on Revision of Laws is now investigating. Chairman Edwin E. Willis (D., La.) is a thick-set Southern lawyer with streaky, stand-up hair and a penetrating manner of inquiry. He is beginning the probe —as all good chairmen should— with a preconviction that something is wrong and that his investigation will prove it. Congressman Willis has already said for quotation that the Justices of the Supreme Court have been usurping the law-making and executive powers which properly belong to Congress and the President. How have the Justices done this? On the basis of the recent record, they have done it by their overconcern for the individual and their show-off hostility toward the rest of our American society.

The Willis subcommittee has begun by a study of the Supreme Court decision in the case of Mallory vs. United States. This Mallory was picked up in the District of Columbia for a crime to which he confessed and for which he was then arraigned. Upon appeal, the Supreme Court released Mallory on the grounds that he was kept in the police station overnight before the arraignment and that he confessed to a crime without being properly and publicly told what it was.

What is the effect of this decision upon our police work and jurisprudence? U. S. Attorney for the District of Columbia, Oliver Gasch, says that police officers, veterans as well as the rookies, are so confused that they hesitate to arrest even a red-handed criminal who makes a confession. His case will almost surely be tossed out of court if the confession seems to be ill-timed. It is conceivable, according to Gasch, that an orthodox confession made after arraignment could be nullified if the defendant appeared to be repeating one he had made beforehand. Gasch's boss, Assistant Attorney General Warren Olney III, of the criminal division, has described the Mallory decision as a boon to organized crime. It gives the "kept" lawyers and mouthpieces of gangland another gimmick with which to "spring" their clients. Congressman Kenneth B. Keating (R., N.Y.), ranking minority member of the House Judiciary committee, has a bill (H. R. 8600) to straighten out this absurd tangle. Keating says:

"The bill that I am introducing would simply provide that any delay in arraigning an accused person such as Mallory, in and of itself, could not constitute grounds for keeping a confession out of evidence."

Study of the Mallory case is merely the first step of the Willis subcommittee in pursuing the alleged misrule of the Supreme Court. The path of inquiry now heads toward the Court's various rulings on the anti-subversive laws, FBI records, the Girard case, Congressional investigations, and the use and misuse of the Bill of Rights. Chairman Willis feels that this is an unprecedented task because never in history has the Court been so conspicuously stronger than either the Congress or the White House. It is no secret in town that President Eisenhower was just as furious over the Court's opening of the FBI files to defendants as any Congressman has been over other alleged usurpations.

Congressman Willis insists that he is not investigating the Court, merely the Court's decisions. But in trying to narrow the scope of his probe, he has, in my opinion, done just the reverse — he has broadened the scope to encompass not merely the Supreme Court but the nature of our American government. It appears to be that we have passed from our proper concern for the individual to an inordinate pride in ourselves as individual-protectors. We have made a fetish of individualism until the pillars of society are neglected and in jeopardy. It is like the bored children in the ultra-progressive school who beat up the teacher, and set fire to the building in the name of freedom. These children never learn one of the first laws of self-government —the difference between liberty and license.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Blood Pressure Facts Explained By Dr. Crane

Jonathan's blood pressure is 132-84, but he doesn't know what the "84" indicates. Did you ever have it explained? If not, then study this case carefully, and then mail it to some relative or friend who is a "worry wart" about his hert.

Case V-348: Jonathan J., aged 45, is a successful business man.

"Dr. Crane, I recently had a medical check-up," he began, "and my blood pressure was 132-84.

"I suppose I have had dozens of medical examinations in my lifetime but nobody ever explained to me what that lower number in my blood pressure stands for.

"I am puzzled by that '84' figure. Could you please explain it?"

Blood Pressure Facts

When your physician takes your blood pressure, he fastens a rubber tourniquet around your upper arm.

It is encased in a satin cloth container to keep the rubber from ballooning up too big.

Then the doctor pumps air into the rubber tourniquet, while he listens via his stethoscope over an artedy in the forearm.

As the air pressure increases, he notes the effect of the sound of your heart beat.

Ultimately, the air pressure becomes so great that it cuts off all the blood flow into the forearm, so the doctor no longer hears any throbbing of your pulse.

This is the "peak-pressure" point and indicates the power of your heart at the very moment it contracts or beats. The air pressure is read in milimeters of mercury.

In Jonathan's case, this peak (systolic) pressure of the heart, was 132 millimeters of mercury.

Rubber Arteries

But you readers probably realize that your blood is flowing steadily even when the heart is still.

So what do you suppose makes that blood keep flowing in between the heart beats? Obviously, there must be some type of pressure somewhere to move your 5 or 6 quarts of blood when the heart is idle.

And here is what does it, namely, your elastic artery walls! For when the heart squirts half a teacupful of blood at each beat, into the big artery (aorta), that artery stretches.

Like rubber, therefore, the artery balloons out with this fresh squirt of blood from your heart.

Then, when the heart is no longer beating, those rubbery walls of the artery slowly come back to normal and meanwhile propel the blood in steady fashion throughout your body.

And the pressure required by the elastic artery walls to keep your blood moving, is indicated by that lower figure in your blood pressure report.

In Jonathan's case, therefore, his arteries must overcome a pressure of 84 millimeters in the capillaries of the body in order to make sure Jonathan's blood doesn't stop flowing in between heart beats.

Medical Fax

The average busy physician hasn't time to explain many of these fascinating things about modern medicine, so from time to time I offer you this basic information.

When folks are worrying about their blood pressure, they usually refer to the top or systolic figure.

But we physicians are also concerned with the lower figure, since it helps show us the real condition of your capillaries.

Emotional excitement may zoom your top number (systolic) as much as 75 to 90 points, but emotion doesn't affect the diastolic pressure as greatly.

Lazy Summer?

SOMETIMES summer seems to lag . . . With days so long and warm . . . Except on those occasions when . . . There is a thunderstorm . . . Sometimes summer seems to drag . . . The hours are so slow . . . We wish that it were time again . . . For frosty air and snow . . . And yet this season has a span . . . The same as all the rest . . . And if we make the most of it . . . We will be richly blest . . . Summer is as long or short . . . As we would have it be . . . According to our laziness . . . Or our activity . . . And if we take advantage of . . . Each moment of each day . . . Our hearts will soon be wistful that . . . The summer flew away.

SURPRISED

Leading Film Actors Called To Testify

HOLLYWOOD, July 26 (UP) — A list of film stars subpenaed to testify Monday as defense witnesses at the criminal libel trial of two Confidential representatives was growing today with some of the leading movie celebrities among those summoned.

Attorney Arthur J. Crowley, representing Fred and Marjorie Meade, West Coast representatives of the expose magazine, disclosed that subpenas have been served on Gary Cooper, Scott Brady, Walter Pidgeon, Corinne Calvet, Rory Calhoun, Lana Turner, Sonny Tufts, Buddy Baer, producer Paul Gregory and Josephine Dillon Gable, first wife of screen star Clark Gable.

Crowley said the purpose in subpenaing the film celebrities was "to establish the truth of the various articles" published in both Confidential and Whisper magazine

The subpenaed personalities today were reported in conference with their attorneys to determine what they shall do about the matter. Many were reported reluctant to undergo cross-examination in connection with the confidential articles.

Assistant Attorney General Clarence Linn, who has been handling the state's case against charged that the defense move in the magazine representatives, issuing the subpenas was "a reign of terror."

Guarantee Sought In New Action

over before the voting right was established.

The Senate's Democratic Leader, Sen. Johnson of Texas, told reporters this morning that some organized labor leaders are supporting a jury trial amendent. He did not identify them, and the AFL-CIO spokesman said he didn't know who they were.

President Eisenhower was represented today as urging passage of the civil rights bill without another major change.

What Wants

What jury trial advocates want to amend is Section 4 of the bill. This section would empower the attorney general to seek federal court injunctions against violations, or threatened violations, of voting rights. Persons flouting the injunctions could be charged with contempt of court and tried by federal judges without juries.

Sen. Douglas D-Ill. was the first to take the floor against the O'Mahoney - Kefauver - Church amendment. He called it "the third edition" of the O'Mahoney amendment — the senator having offered two different versions earlier.

Douglas

Now, suddenly and without hearings, Douglas said, the three senators were offering "a widespread proposal that would change no less than 36 statutes."

Among them he listed the Fair Labor Standards Act, antitrust laws and others banning false labeling, etc.

An earlier O'Mahoney amendment now before the Senate would provide jury trials for persons charged with criminal contempt in voting rights cases, leaving civil contempt proceedings to the judges issuing the injunctions. It would not have the universal application of the new proposal.

Russell, as leader of the Southern opposition, had announced his support of this version, although he said he didn't think it went far enough.

The new amendment makes no provision for jury trials in civil contempt cases. As O'Mahoney explained it: "The accused in a civil contempt proceeding at all times holds the key to his release from prison and to the remission of his fine by complying with the terms of the court order. There is no need for a jury trial to safeguard his rights."

Earlier Russell had announced that "every weapon in our arsenal would be used in an attempt to defeat the bill if it didn't carry a jury trial amendment.

The President's "no compromise" attitude was relayed to a closed door meeting of all GOP senators by Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland Calif. Knowland earlier breakfasted with Eisenhower.

Ike's Position Unchanged

Knowland read the meeting a July 16 statement in which the President said that a "jury trial should not be interposed in contempt of court cases" stemming from violations of court orders designed to protect Negro voting rights.

He told his colleagues that the President's position is "precisely the same" now as it was then. He urged his colleagues to vote against various pending amendments to write a jury trial provision into the measure.

Knowland told newsmen the President is "hopeful that we will have an effective bill."

Jury In Criminal Cases

"In my judgment," Knowland added, "we won't have, with any of these amendments."

The O'Mahoney amendment was expected to come up for a showdown vote next Tuesday or Wednesday, with both sides predicting a narrow victory.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall R-Mass. told newsmen that no one at the GOP meeting made any effort to "bind anyone or tell anyone how to vote" on the jury trial issue.

Ormand said hospital authorities told him a nurse had apparently got the forceps mixed in with other hospital instruments following the autopsy.

Dr. Francis Archer found the forceps half way through the autopsy, which was requested by Olson's widow because her husband had appeared to be in good health shortly before his death.

Archer left the forceps in the abdominal cavity where he had found them and called the coroner's office, Ormand said. A coroner's physician completed the autopsy.

The coroner's doctor discovered the forceps were missing as he and Archer "washed up" following the examination, Ormand testified.

When the governor asserted their firm "consulted very little" with "his" architect, Short and Murrell commented, "we must assume that the governor refers to the architect employed by us, at our expense, as consultant . . . this architect appeared with us Oct. 31, 1955, at a meeting of the public building board, at which time he assisted us in presentation and explanation of the plans . . . recently, the Highway Department retained this same architect to prepare new plans."

MADE MISTAKE

Judge Reverses Stand, Gives Child To Mother

DETROIT, July 26 (AP)—Circuit Judge Neal E. Fitzgerald today said he made a mistake in giving temporary custody of a 5-year-old boy to the wealthy grandparents rather than to the child's mother.

"I have made a mistake," he admitted to a crowded courtroom in reversing himself. "I don't think I should have signed that injunction in the first place."

His ruling today dismissed an injunction he had issued Tuesday which barred Mrs. Phyllis Shank from taking custody of her son, John R. Branch, away from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Castle.

"I am not going to be put in the position of taking a child from his mother by the stroke of a pen," Judge Fitzgerald said. "And that is what I did. I am sorry.

"By all the laws of nature, a mother is entitled to her own children," Judge Fitzgerald announced from the bench. He ordered the Castles to return the boy to his mother pending trial of the custody battle.

Castle, wealthy Detroit real estate broker, contends their daughter gave them the baby when the child was three days old and they have reared him since then. They also claim Mrs. Shank is an unfit mother and mentally incompetent to rear the child.

Mrs. Shank, of suburban St. Clair Shores, divorced her first husband shortly after the child was born. She has since remarried and recntly gave birth to twins, a boy and a girl.

Her attorney argued in court today that the Castles "with all their millions" are "playing hide and seek with the boy and tearing out his mother's heart."

Two Textile Union Leaders Are Accused

the committee staff were "above and beyond" Klenert's salary and expense allowances.

Staff members testified that in 1954 and 1955, Klenert's salary was $7,500, Valente's $8,500 and each that time got $190 a week for expenses, or $9,880 a year. Then last October, they said, the salaries were raised to $14,000 and $15,000 with the expense allowance remaining the same.

The UTW phase of the committee hearings came to a close with Sens. Curtis (R-Neb) and Ervin (D-NC) reprimanding the union leaders in strong terms.

Ervin said he was "astounded at the callous indifference" to the trust imposed in them by the union. Curtis, the acting chairman, told Klenert that he and his associates had shown "complete disregard for your trust." That Klenert's activites went far beyond "slipshod methods" to a question of honesty.

To a lesser extent, he said, his remarks applied to Valente and to the union's Atlanta, Ga. lawyer Joseph Jacobs.

"I think," Curtis said in severe tones, "you ought to turn the organization over to someone else."

He asked the witness if he had any comment.

"No, sir," Klenert replied in an almost inaudible voice.

With that, Curtis banged the hearing into adjournment.

Stocks Show Slow Retreat

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—The stock market went into a slow retreat shortly after a mixed opening today and it continued backing down to the close.

Final prices were at about the day's lows, but losses for the most part were held to fractions. In isolated cases they ran to about 2 points. A few issues moved up against the general trend.

A distinguishing feature of the market was its dullness. Volume came to only 1,710,000 shares, a low since April 1 when only 1,620,000 shares were traded. Turnover yesterday totaled 1,800,000 shares.

Volume never got up to two million shares on any day this week. In contrast, a year ago it exceeded two million shares on four of the five trading days.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed down 90 cents at $187.10 with the industrials off $1.00, rails down $1.60 and utilities down 30 cents. This did not wipe out the gains of the past three days.

Of 1,122 issues traded, 302 advanced and 559 declined. There were only 10 new highs for the year in contrast to 43 new lows.

U. S. government bonds advanced. Corporates ended lower.

Cotton

NEW YORK

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—Cotton futures moved nervously today over modest price ranges in fairly active dealings. Final prices were 15 to 50 cents a bale lower.

Trading was the heaviest of the week. Ideal crop and weather news caused selling, with pressure also created by uncertainty over the 1957 loan rate. On declines, the market encountered support from shorts. This buying was based mainly on technical considerations.

Washington announced that the support rate for the 1957 cotton crop would not be made public until after the August cotton crop report is released on Aug. 8. Normally the secretary of agriculture announces the support rate for cotton around Aug. 1 when the mid-July parity price report is released. The July parity is the base used by the secretary in computing the year's support price. Trade speculation was that the prop will be above a year ago, because the parity for cotton is higher now. Traders now believe however, the support will be a shade lower than they expected a short time ago. This was responsible for some of the selling in futures at the close of the week.

Burglar To Be Freed To Be At Ill Wife's Side

By TIM PARKER

JACKSON, Miss., July 26 (AP)—A Mississippi farmer will be freed temporarily from prison next week to be at the side of his young wife, whose unborn child is threatened by a blood condition.

Gov. J. P. Coleman announced the 45-day suspension of sentence today for E. J. Spiers of near Poplarville, who was sentenced late last year to three years on a burglary conviction from Hancock County.

The governor and the Spiers' doctor explained that an "R-H" factor is building up antibodies in Mrs. Spiers' blood which could cause the death of the 26-year-old mother's seventh child, expected Aug. 26.

Test Blood

"If we can take a sample of the father's blod it will, with the sample we already have from the mother's blood, give us a much better idea in advance of what we can expect in the child," explained Dr. Joe H. Powell of Poplarville.

If Dr. Powell's fears are realized and the antibodies begin destruction of the infant's blood after birth, an immediate replacement of the child's entire blood supply will be necessary.

Dr. Spiers described the young mother as "very attractive, dark, and slender" whose health otherwise is excellent.

Commence Aug. 1

Spiers' suspension will commence on Aug. 1 and continue through Sept. 15.

"We are very happy to learn that Mr. Spiers can be here," Dr. Powell said. "The baby's chances are 50-50 and it will be important for him to be with the family in these circumstances."

If a mother's blood is negative and the father's positive, there is always a chance that the R-H factor will cause trouble. The chances increase with each child that antibodies will build up which are transferred to the unborn child. If the child is born with positive blood, these antibodies can be be fatal.

Dr. Powell said that negative blood will be needed if a transfusion is indicated, but which type negative blood won't be known until the child is born. "there's a chance, of course, that it will be a type difficult to find," the doctor said.

Highlights From The Ticker Tape

The House Commerce Committee has voted to overturn a recent court decision that 42 railroads violated the anti-trust laws in competing for business with non-scheduled airlines.

The proposal would make the railroad practices involved in the court decision legal retroactively and thus nullify the ruling.

One source said the proposal was intended not only to overturn the court ruling but to block future suits against railroads on the same charges that could run into hundreds of millions of dollars.

Bethlemem Steel reported record sales for the second quarter and for the first six months of the year.

The Army awarded a $24,586,276 contract for ground launching equipment to be used with the Nike Hercules anti-aircraft missile to Douglas Aircraft Co.

Top officials of the General Dynamics, liquid carbonic companies said directors have approved in principle a merger plan under which Liquid Carbonic would be opeated as a division of General Dynamics.

Prospector Bolstered

Auto production this week was bolstered by increased assemblies of Edsel, DeSoto and Buick cars.

Lone Star Steel expects to report record earnings this year, compared with the previous high of $3.43 a share in 1956.

Detroit Harvester Company sales are expected to approach $57 million for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, J. Thomas Smith, president, said.

Railroad freight carloadings last week ran ahead of the week before and a year earlier, the Association of American Railroads reported.

Revenue freight loadings by the nations railroads totaled 743,359 car or 7.4 per cent above the preceding week, which was affected by part of the coal miners annual vacation and 94,867 cars or 14.6 per cent above the 1956 week, when a nationwide steel strike held loadings down.

Stock Increase For Crude Oil

WASHINGTON, July 26 (UP)—Domestic and foreign crude oil stocks totalled 285,882,000 barrels for the week ended July 20, an increase of 5,424,000 barrels from the previous week, the Bureau of Mines reported today.

Texas had 130,490,000 barrels of domestic stock, an increase of 2,176,000 barrels. Other domestic stocks on hand: Kansas, 11,433,000 barrels, up 298,000 barrels; Louisiana 19,454,000 up 532,000 barrels.

The market was barely steady on the opening with a fair amount of trade selling in the nearbys apparently hedge sales against purchases of CCC cotton. Commission houses were light sellers of the nearby months during early trading and the large spot houses brokers continued to buy March and May and sell July at around 40 points, believed to be transferring of hedges for customer account. Some New Orleans selling came into the market during the last hour of trading but light, local shortcovering and small commission house buying at the close found offerings light. The CCC sold at competitive bids 52,819 bales under the 1957-58 cotton program of an average price of 27.2¢ for middling inch at average location. Exports today totaled 16,336 bales which brings the seasons total to 7,566,632 bales compared to 2,188,229 a year ago. The cotton goods market was quiet and steady with 80 squares moving at from 17¾ to 18 cents.

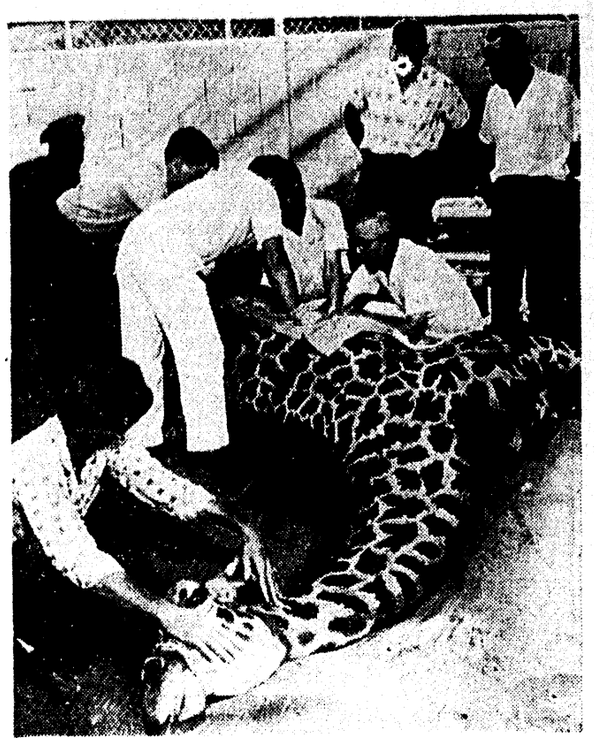
The New York market opened barely steady with the trade good supporters at the lower levels and thereafter the market held steady keeping within a narrow range and closing about a half cent lower for the day. The weakness appeared to reflect the easier tone at the London futures market where commission house selling was reported to be pressuring their market. Volume in both the New York and London makets was relatively light.

Both the Boston spot market and the Bradford spot market report quiet business and relatively low wool stocks.



EMERGENCY SURGERY—A 5-man team of veterinarians works to save life of Roger, a 5-year-old giraffe at Lincoln Park Zoo in Oklahoma City. The 14-foot tall giraffe underwent exploratory surgery yesterday and surgeons straightened out an intestinal twist that may have felled the 2,200-pound animal. WHY DO YOU READ THE NEWSPAPER? Copyright 1957, Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, Inc.
"I sit down with the paper every day to read it and look for ads on things I need..."*
Morning, noon or night, any day of the week, in the house or out, the newspaper remains to be read – and shopped – at the reader's convenience.
This is one of the great pluses for an advertiser – as so many advertisers well know. An ad is read by newspaper readers when the readers feel like it. There is no intrusion upon the readers' time; thus no resentment by customers.
The convenience appeal of the daily newspaper is one reason why people pay over $3,000,000 a day for the privilege of reading and shopping from more than 57,000,000 newspapers daily.
Whatever you sell, wherever you sell it – nationally, regionally or locally – you'll get more help selling it through the daily newspaper . . . where people find time to listen to your story.

PAIR PITCH 2-HITTER

Pierce, Wilson Give Pale Hose Split With Orioles

BALTIMORE, July 26 (UP)—Jim Wilson and Billy Pierce combined to pitch a brilliant two-hitter that gave the Chicago White Sox a 1-0 victory over Baltimore tonight in the second game of a double header after the Orioles had won the opener 5-2.

Wilson won a tight duel from Ken Lehman, the Orioles left-handed relief specialist who was making his first start of the season. The only hits off the Chicago righthander, who won his 11th game, were a two-out double in the first inning by Al Pilarcik and a single by Joe Ginsberg in the second inning.

Lehman, who lost his second game in five decisions, allowed only four hits and gave up the only run of the game in the second inning when Larry Doby walked, raced to third on a single by Luis Aparicio and scored on a sacrifice fly by Sammy Esposito.

In the opener, the Orioles battered left-hander Jack Harshman for all their runs in the first inning and dealt him his sixth loss against seven wins.

Cards Beat Bucs In 11th On Dark's Single, 4 To 3

ST. LOUIS, July 26 (UP)—Alvin Dark punched a looping single into short right-center in the 10th inning tonight with the bases loaded to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 4-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Cardinals' extra-inning victory, their 15th in 24 overtime games this season, kept them a half game behind the league-leading Milwaukee Braves, who defeated the New York Giants, 6-3, also in overtime.

Catcher Hobie Landrith walked to lead off the 10th and Eddie Kasko was safe on a bunt. Landrith went to third and Kasko to second when Ronnie Kline, who lost his 15th game against two victories, threw wide to first trying to double Kasko after catching Eddie Miksis' pop bunt. Blasingame was intentionally walked and Dark followed with the game-winning single.

Southside Is Winner In L. Boys Tourney

OAK GROVE, La. (Special) — Southside of West Monroe took the district Little Boys championship as they won their fourth straight victory of the tournament, 11-3, over Bossier City here last night.

Clubbing 3 Bossier pitchers for 11 hits, the Southsiders were never headed in the game. They scored 5 in the first inning to put the game on ice. Hardwick limited the losers to 4 hits and had 2 hits himself and batted in 3 runs. Shepherd led the winners with 3 hits in 4 trips. Clampit and Dowdy both had 2 hits for the winners.

The West Monroe club, managed by Ivy Redding and Dick Howard, beat Bossier City in their first game, 11-0, then topped Northside of West Monroe, 9-1. Rayville was their next victim, 13-3, before they played in the finals.

A workout is scheduled for the Southsiders at 6 this afternoon at the Little Boys park in West Monroe. The team will probably leave for the state tourrament in Alexandria Monday morning.

Ramos Tosses 8-Hitter, Nats Trip A's, 3-2

WASHINGTON, July 26 (UP)—Pedro Ramos checked the Kansas City Athletics on eight hits as the Washington Senators scored their third straight victory, 3-2, tonight and climbed within a game and a half of seventh place.

Arnold Portocarrero, who started for the A's, dueled on near-even terms with Ramos until he hurt his right shoulder at the start of the sixth and had to retire. Portocarrero, who gave up the Tom Morgan, who took over for Kansas City, was touched for two more runs in the sixth.

Manager Lou Boudreau of the A's was chased in the sixth by Umpire Jim Honochick for disputing a called fourth ball on Washington batter Art Schult.

Miteff Scores TKO In 7th To Beat Mederos

WASHINGTON, July 26 (UP)—Alex Miteff unbeaten 22-year-old slugger from Argentina, scored his 11th stight professional victory tonight when he battered Julio Medos of Havana, Cuba, about the ring for a technical knockout in the seventh round.

Referee Ray Bowen stopped the televised bout before the bell sounded for the seventh round after Mitefs continuous pounding cut up Meros' face and caused him to stagger almost through the ropes at the close of the sixth session. The verdict officially went to Miteff as a seventh round TKO although the bell never sounded for it.

A crowd of 4,200 at the Capitol Arena saw the 202 1-4 pound Miteff stagger the 197 1-2 pound Mederos in a furious first round and keep up his bombardment for the entire bout. It was the greatest victory of Miteff's career—against a fighter with four times as much professional experience.

Billy Goodman Sidelined With Finger Fracture

BALTIMOE, July 26 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles said today third baseman Bill Goodman has been sidelined with a finger fracture suffered in yesterday's game with Detroit.

Goodman, who is batting .277, apparently suffered the index finger fracture when he was hit by a pitch. The umpire had ruled he had not been hit.

X-rays turned up a fracture of the second and third joints of the left index finger. How long Goodman will be out was not immediately determined.

Crimson Hose Rout Redskins In 10-1 Scrap

BOSTON, July 26 (AP) — Norm Zauchin and Ted Williams combined to drive in seven runs for Boston's 10-1 victory over Cleveland tonight as the Red Sox again proved poison to southpaw pitching.

The defeat knocked the Indians out of the American League's first division, half a game back of Detroit.

Little League

The Northside finally came through with a win in Little League inter - loop play when Monroe Brick squeezed by Lennon Motors, 11-10 last night. It was the first win for the Northsiders after four losses.

Lennon made a fight of it, scoring five runs in the 6th to go ahead by two but the winners tallied 3 on 7 walks to win the game. McCready, Warner and Cole was the winning battery, while Bryant Via and Fallin toiled for the losers. Braud and Woodburn had 2 for 3 to lead Monroe Brick at the plate and Lennon's attack was lead by Via, who had two homers. Gannaway also had a pair of hits for the losers.

Today KLIC, Southside, meets the Northside's Police Department nine at 7 p.m.

Gordon Avenue Methodist won third place in the Church "B" League all to itself last night on T. Brown's 5-0 win over Victory Baptist. The two teams had tied for the third place slot with 8-5 records over the regular season. Causey was Brown's catcher and F. McGough and Hudson was the losing battery.

In another playoff for third place Cypress Baptist defeated Latter-Day Saints, 15-10, to take the third slot in the Church "C" League. Three teams had tied for the spot, Gordon Avenue Methodist having been eliminated earlier.

Smith and J. Waggoner was the battery for Cypress. Alfred Baugh led the Cypress attack on losing pitcher Hollister. Tannehill was the L-D. S. catcher.

Last place Cheniere Baptist won its first game of the year, beating, of all people, first place West Monroe Baptist. College Place Baptist took a doubleheader and Monroe Baptist and L.T.I. Chapel couldn't play because the umpires didn't show up in Church "A" League action last night.

Their 8-6 defeat at the hands of Cheniere dropped West Monroe into a tie for the top spot with L.T.I. Carter, Brewer and Owens slammed out two hits to pace Cheniere at the plate. Dupriest was the losing pitcher and Fant was his catcher. McDonald and R. Knowles was the winning battery for Cheniere.

Bushnell's shutout gave College Place their first win of the night, 8-0, over the Crusaders and Golman pitched the 15-3 win over Linville in the second game. both contests. Carter's 4 for 4 paced the win over the Crusaders. One of his hits was a homer. Housley was the catcher in Wroten and Clark was the Crusader battery. Hale and Gardner was the Linville battery and R. Dean was their top hitter with 2 for 4.

Quick Under $200 Bond As He Leads Utah Open Field

SALT LAKE CITY, July 26 (UP)—Smiley Quick was under $200 bond as he led the field of the Utah Open Golf tournament into its second round today because of his temper.

Quick won the Utah Open in 1951. But in trying to recapture the title in recent years he has drawn the ire of golfing officials here for blowing up.

Last year at Ogden, Quick complained about the condition of the course, the attitude of the spectators and battled both with fellow players and tournament marshals. He climaxed things by throwing his clubs to the ground midway through a round and walking off the course.

This year, the Utah Golf Association—which puts up the $17,500 in prizes for the tournament—made their big meet an invitational affair, admittedly to keep Quick out.

But the red-faced, stocky professional from the Ria Honde country club at Downey, Calif., asked if he could redeem himself. He offered to post $200 bond—to be forfeited if he broke any rules of golf etiquette. Officials accepted.

On the opening round Thursday Quick shot a four-under-par 66 over the Ft. Douglas course. He invited photographers to take his picture, a complete reversal from previous attitudes toward cameramen. He asked fellow competitors to "please" mark their ball, suggested his caddy "please" remove the pin for putting and even told a spectator "if you don't mind, please stop rattling that ice in that paper cup until I hit."

Phillies Rally For 2 In 10th To Beat Reds

CHICAGO, July 26 (UP)—The Philadelphia Phillies rallied for two 10th inning runs today to give Warren Hacker a four-hit, 3-1 victory over former teammate Bob Rush and the Chicago Cubs.

The loss went to Rush, his 11th in 12 decisions, when he was nicked for a lead-off double by rookie Ed Bouchee in the 10th.

Turk Lown came on and was promptly removed when, in an attempt to force Bouchee at third on Stan Lopata's roller to the mound, he threw wildly into the dugout, allowing the Philadelphia rookie to score and Lopata to continue to third.

Pro Football Making Good Case In Hearing—Celler

WASHINGTON, July 26 (UP)—Rep. Emanuel Celler said today that professiona football is making an effective case for partial exemption from the federal anti-trust laws.

The New York Democrat heads a House judiciary subcommittee which just heard two days of testimony from pro football stars and Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League.

Celler told a reporter they have been more candid and presented a much better case than did representatives of professional baseball during three weeks of earlier hearings.

"Baseball took a holier-than-thou attitude and said 'you can't touch us,'" Celler said.

The current hearings, which resume next Wednesday, were prompted by a recent Supreme Court decision denying professional football the same anti-trust immunity enjoyed by baseball.

The subcommittee is considering a series of bills either to bring all pro sports under the anti-trust statutes or to grant them at least some of the immunity given baseball. Pro basketball and hockey also are subject to the laws.

Ouachita Bank climbed into second place with a 4-2 win over Southern Equipment yesterday when Missouri Pacific's Eagles dropped Central Bank, 7-1. Stokes and Huggins for Ouachita and Gunn and Roberts for the Eagles were the winning batteries. Covington, who fanned 14, and Williams was the Southern Equipment battery. Brown and Elias shared Central Bank pitching with Hinkle catching.

Buck Fox's grand slam home run in the 6th inning sparked McCain - Richards over Dixie Boys, 11-7, last night in the West Monroe Dixie League. The catcher had three other hits during the game for a perfect night, 4 for 4. Jerry Broome was the winning pitcher and McMillliar and Ouchley was the losing battery. Chapman's 3 for 4 led the losers at the plate.

Sports' Owner Receives First Offer—$24.30

SHREVEPORT, La., July 26 (AP)—Boneau Peters, president of the Shreveport Sports, today received his first cash offer for purchase of the Shreveport Texas League baseball franchise.

The offer was made by two Shreveport children via letter.

Penny and Mike Lonnecker, ages 8 and 9, advised Peters they had saved $24.30 which they would like to offer for purchase of the Sports because they wanted to keep the team in Shreveport.

Peters Wednesday told the summer meeting of the Texas League at Dallas that present owners of the Sports would seek sale of the franchise and players for $100,000 after completion of the current season.

Ouachita Coon Hunters Slate Meeting Today

The Ouachita Valley Coon Hunters Association holds its field trials and coon-on-a-log show today, headquartering at the Ouachita Valley Fair Grounds, West Monroe, this morning at 10 o'clock and moving out on location for afternoon "drag" chases and the coon-on-a-log contests.

J. H. Poole, association president, last night said the events are open to any coon dogs at an entry fee of $2 per event. Trophies and other awards will go to various winners.

Coon hunting enthusiasts are invited to contact Poole or Mrs. Gladys Thorne the latter association secretary, for information concerning the day's meeting.

YANKEE COACH HIT

NEW YORK, July 26 (UP)—Coach Jim Turner of the New York Yankees was struck on the head by a line drive during pregame batting practice tonight and carried off the field at Yankee Stadium. Turner, Manager Casey Stengel's No. 1 advisor, was bleeding but was conscious and did not seem seriously injured.

EVENTUAL MAJOR LEAGUE STATUS?

Shaughnessy Sets Sights On Brooklyn Area For IL

MONTREAL, July 26 (UP)—Frank Shaughnessy set his sights today on the lucrative Brooklyn baseball territory—if and when it becomes available—with designs of eventually making his International League a third major league.

Shaughnessy, energetic president of the International League, said this long-range objective might be achieved by first re-acquiring a franchise in Jersey City. Jersey City had an International League franchise which folded after the 1950 season, because of competition from the three major league teams across the Hudson River.

"We certainly would be interested in moving into Jersey City" if the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants moved to California, Shaughnessy said.

The prospect of eventually obtaining a franchise in Brooklyn rested upon whether Commissioner Ford Frick declared that territory "open" should the Dodgers go through with their announced plans of moving to Los Angeles.

"We wouldn't be interested in moving into the area if some other club decided to move in first," Shaughnessy said.

With a franchise in Brooklyn, Shaughnessy visualized raising the International League to major league status, with eventual participation in the World Series. He agreed it would take at least three years to bring up the caliber of International League competition to where it could qualify for World Series competition.

Alexandria Bovs Blast Opelousas

ALEXANDRIA, La., July 26 (AP)—Undefeated Alexandria won Louisiana's American Legion junior baseball region four championship today with a 15-4 victory over Opelousas.

Alexandria scored nine runs in the first three innings and got 15 walks and 11 hits off four Opelousas pitchers in the nine-inning game.

Opelousas scored its four unearned runs off two Alexandria hurlers.

The victory was the second in a two-out-of-three series. Alexandria took the first game 8-7 at Opelousas.

Alexandria will meet Monroe next week in the north semi-final round.

Dr. Barrodale, Olympic Boxing Manager, Dies

HOUMA, La., July 26 (UP)—Dr. Barry Barrodale, manager of the 1952 U. S. Olympic team, which included current heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, died today of a heart attack.

Barrodale, in his early forties, was a well known authority on amateur sports, especially boxing.

He was past president of the Southern Amateur Athletic Union and AAU Officials club. The National Collegiate Athletic Association appointed him as official referee and judge several years ago.

As an amateur boxing coach at Houma, he introduced several fighters to the New Orleans ring, including Sewele Whitey and Conrad Picou.

HAS 'YAGASH' PUNCH

Hurricane Predicts Champ Won't Want Return Match

COLUMBIA, N. J., July 25 (UP)—Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson predicted today he would give heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson such a beating at the Polo Grounds Monday night that, "he won't even want a return title bout."

They are scheduled for a return title fight Sept. 16 at the Polo Grounds in case Tommy, the 5 - 1 underdog, upsets Patterson Monday.

The lanky challenger said Monday's 15-rounder will be such a terrific battle, "one of us has got to go—and it won't be me."

He stressed he is not a knockout specialist, "but I'm hittin' a lot harder than when we fought last year, and I'm a lot smarter."

Chatting with a group of reporters under a maple tree at his training camp, 25-year-old Tommy said he would surprise the champion with a new secret punch—"The Yagash."

And he will also use new defensive tactics.

"I'm goin' to make a twist this time and fool him a little," Jackson said.

This was interpreted to mean that, instead of carrying the fight to Patterson from the first gong, he plans to force the champion to do the early leading and thereby leave himself open to counters with "The Yagash" and other punches.

2 Women Injured In Accident

Two women received back injuries at 5:40 p.m. yesterday, when a car in which they were riding was suddenly struck from behind by another vehicle.

Injured and taken to private physicians were Mrs. K. M. Willis of 3801 Blanks street, suffering neck and back injuries, and Mrs. Prentiss Cox, 4845 Sheridan drive, who complained of a back injury.

They were passengers in a car driven by Bess R. Schuster of 1903 DeSiard street, who halted in line of traffic heading east on DeSiard to allow another car to make a turn.

Robert W. Collins, Jr., 3025 Cavett drive who was driving behind the Schuster car, failed to stop and plowed into the back of the car, in the 3500 block of DeSiard street, police said.

Both cars were damaged. Monroe police investigated the mishap, and no charges were filed.

63 Egyptians Die Watching Belly Dance

CAIRO, July 26 (UP)—A house caved in on 200 singing, stamping Egyptians watching a belly dancer at a wedding Thursday night and turned the old two-story building into a tomb.

The bride and 63 others, half of them infants and children, died in the wreckage of rotted timbers, masonry, plaster and shattered glass. Another 45 persons were hospitalized.

A police sergeant said 62 bodies had been carried out of the debris in a semi-slum area known as "Mosques Alley." Two other persons, a man and woman, died in the hospital.

The body of the 19- year- old bride, in its white gown and veil, was found buried in the debris.

Bridegrom Colapses

The 24-year-old bridegrom collapsed of shock. When he regained his strength he joined rescue workers pulling aside the wreckage to reach the trapped and injured.

Thirty-four of the victims at the wedding party were children, some babes in their mothers arms, who had been taken to the wedding of Fatma El Shimy, the bride, and Mansour Abdel Hamid, as is the Egyptian custom.

The bride's father brought in dancing girls and one of them was doing a belly dance just before the tragedy. A neighbor came upstairs from the ground floor to complain that the stamping feet of the guests was knocking plaster loose from the ceiling. That was the only warning, and every one ignored it.

Suddenly, the walls buckled, the ceiling and the roof over the guests collapsed.

Chunks of the building sheared through some of the guests. The arm of one dancing girl was found in the wreckage before her body was found. It still wore gleaming golden bracelets.

Given Life For Assault

DALLAS, July 26 (UP)—Harold Carter, 28-year-old Negro ex-convict today was found guilty of raping a pretty 25-year-old telephone operator and sentenced to life in prison.

The jury of four women and eight men found Carter guilty of the attack in the woman's apartment in the early morning hours of May 1.

Carter received the verdict impassively. He told his court-appointed defense attorneys that he did not know whether he wanted them to file an appeal.

The jury deliberated a little more than two hours before returning the verdict to Judge Joe B. Brown.

The trial started Monday with questioning of jurors and was attended by a standing-room only crowd when the shapely blonde testified how the Negro broke into her apartment and raped her after threatening her with a knife.

The defense rested without presenting any witnesses.

Stage Peron Demonstration In Argentina

LA PLATA, Argentina, July 26 (AP)—Twelve thousand packinghouse workers today staged the biggest Peronista demonstration in nearly two years. Police dispersed them with tear gas.

The demonstration came only two days before a Constituent Assembly election expected to show whether Argentina is turning back to dictatorship or toward democracy.

The meatpackers quit work this morning in order to pay homage to Eva Peron, wife of former dictator Juan Peron, on the fifth anniversary of her death from cancer. Many of them crowded into San Ponciano church for a special Mass ordered by their leaders. After the Mass the workers started a parade, shouting "Viva Peron," and police began showering tear gas bombs.

The meatpackers were the labor mainstay of Peron's rule until he was deposed in September 1955. Peron is now in exile in Venezuela.

SAYS LITTLE ON BOARD ISSUE

Attorney General Arrives For Legion Meeting Here

Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion arrived in Monroe yesterday for the American Legion convention, but had little to add to the controversial issue of the Ouachita parish School Board.

Gremillion, who was appealed to for an opinion by James H. Trousdale, Jr., said he did not know the details of the issue and could offer "little or nothing," for comment.

However, he said he felt his office would expedite the request for an opinion within 48 hours. Trousdale mailed the request late Thursday.

Gremillion said it would be around the "middle of next week" before an opinion is rendered by his office.

To Rule Accordingly

"All I can say is that we will base our opinion on the law and rule accordingly," he stated.

Trousdale appealed to Gremillion after District Attorney Albin P. Lassiter declared Hugh Balfour president of the School Board. Trousdale, who was removed as president at the last meeting, said he would not concede to Lassiter's opinion and the request to Gremillion followed.

Ironically, Trousdale is general chairman of the convention Gremillion is attending. Trousdale said yesterday he knew Gremillion was in town, but explained he had seen him "only passing on the streets."

Will Review

Gremillion said he left Baton Rouge before Trousdale's appeal arrived. He stated he would review it when he returns to Baton Rouge.

"All I know at the moment moment about the subject is that there is a controversy concerning the presidency of the board," he said when contacted at the Virginia Hotel yesterday.

He explained that his office "usually expedites such matters within 48 hours."

"Whenever a school board member asks my office for an opinion," Gremillion said, "we're happy to oblige. "Certainly, Mr. Toursdale is entitled to one."

HAD STRINGS

Nasser Tells Why He Rejected 'Doctrine'

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 26 (AP)—President Nasser told cheering Egyptian holiday crowds tonight the Eisenhower Doctrine "had strings" and that was why he rejected it.

But he praised the U.S. stand with Egypt on the Israeli and British-French invasions of Egypt last October-November.

Nasser told his national audience the British-French invasion of the Suez was not to protect the canal as proclaimed but to bring the Egyptians to their knees.

"We cannot forget the United States stand against aggression," Nasser said at the mass rally in Alexandria's Liberation Square. On the same spot a year ago today he announced Egypt was nationalizing the Suez Canal Co. The rally celebrated the fifth anniversary of the ouster and exile of King Farouk.

Nasser's Speech

Nasser's speech, broadcast by the state radio, was heard by millions of Egyptians throughout the country.

Nasser said that if Egypt had accepted the offer of aid under the Eisenhower Doctrine—aimed to stem communism in the Middle East—it would have meant Egypt following in America's footsteps.

"We do not believe in alliances and the Eisenhower Doctrine had certain conditions," Nasser said. "It had strings.

"For this reason we rejected it. . . .

"If Eisenhower has his policy, we also have our own policy. It is the policy of Bandung which is neutrality and cooperation with the whole world."

Bandung, Indonesia, was the site of the 1955 African-Asian conference that spelled out a neutralist policy to which Egypt, India, Ceylon and other countries pledged adherence.

After lauding the U.S. opposition to the British French-Israeli attack, Nasser complained that the U.S. policy toward Egypt changed after Israeli troops withdrew from Egyptian soil.

TELLS AMERICAN VISITORS

Khrushchev Says Russia Had H-Bomb Before U.S.

MOSCOW, July 26 (UP)—Soviet Communist party Chief Nikita S. Khruschev told a group of visiting Americans that Russia had the hydrogen bomb before the United States and now has bombs and rockets just as effective as U. S. models, members of the group said today.

The party leader made the remarks to 26 Americans led by Jerome Davis, a freelance writer and former professor at Yale.

One of the Americans today gave a resume of Khrushchev's statement to them in the Kremlin Wednesday.

Was Affable

In general Khrushchev was affable. He called American trade barriers one of the most serious obstacles to betterment of American-Soviet relations.

And he again predicted that "we will overtake you" in the field of economic and agricultural production.

Khrushchev said Russia is ready to sign with the West an agreement banning nuclear tests immediately.

"We had hydrogen bombs before you and our bombs and rockets are not worse than yours," he said.

"Confidence is the main necessary factor to, improve relations among peoples living on the same planet," he added. "War or peace depends on confidence."

In the same vein, he told the Americans they had not been asked to empty their pockets before they entered his office because "Russians have confidence in good people."

One tourist said Khrushchev challenged the United States to exchange several hundred students with the Soviet Union for one year's study to be paid for by the host country.

"Some people think we are afraid of such exchanges because the Russian people might be converted to capitalism," Khrushchev said.

"But something might happen to you people, too. You Americans, I suppose, would only send us your staunchest capitalists."

New Mosquito Killing Machine Gets Workout

Monroe's new mosquito - killing machine wa: put into action last night on the southside of town, Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard announced.

He said the machine, which cost the city $1800, started to work at 6 p.m. yesterday and continued operating into the night.

The machine will be used on the southside of town first, Howard stated, and will work toward the north until the entire city has been covered.

He explained the fog-spraying machine was constructed to be most effective late in the afternoon and during the night. It produces an insecticide fog.

Hoffa Comes Out For Beck's Union Job

CHICAGO, July 26 (UP)—James R. Hoffa, defiant and ready to fight the whole AFL-CIO if he has to, today announced that he is out to succeed Dave Beck as president of the Teamsters Union.

Hoffa, 44, and long heir-apparent to Beck's throne, announced his candidacy for leadership of the nation's largest union scarcely a week after a federal court acquitted him of charges that he planted a spy in the Senate Rackets Committee.

Hoffa's carefully - staged announcement came after 500 enthusiastic "friends" from the Teamsters' Central, Southern and Eastern conferences had unanimously endorsed him for president in a Shoreland hotel meeting on Chicago's South Side.

Ninth Vice-President

Hoffa ninth vice-president of the Teamsters and chairman of its Central conference, then told his supporters "I for one never want to leave voluntarily the AFL CIO."

"However, I don't want any inference to be left that we are willing to sacrifice the autonomy of our international union," Hoffa continued. "Better we should fight while we are strong than realize while we are weak that we should have fought."

Hoffa also embraced a statement of policy to "strengthen the Teamsters Union" which had been drawn up by his 500 supporters.

The statement pledged Hoffa and his backers to ask the next AFL-CIO convention to repudiate its ruling that union officials who invoke the fifth amendment before government investigative groups should get out of office.

Changes Saloons To Escape Taxes

CHICAGO, July 26 (UP)—For 80 days, Earl W. Cross, 65, tried to evade tax evasion charges in saloons all over the Midwest.

He showed up before U. S. Judge Joseph Sam Perry today and explained it was this way:

When he learned he ha dto go to prison for not filing a return on $17,349 income, Cross confessed he "found it difficult to face the situation."

He wandered into a Chicago Loop bar to think things over.

Things were still hard to face in Chicago, so he tried a bar in Milwaukee, and then another bar, and another, and another . . .

Perry said he could stay put for a year in prison at Springfield, Mo.

AT TUSKEGEE, ALA.

Legal Action Viewed In Negro Economic Boycott

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 26 (UP)—The Alabara attorney general's office examined evidence today "with a view toward taking legal action" against a Negro group spearheading the economic boycott in nearby Tuskegee.

Investigators began evaluating their findings after swift raids on the headquarters of the Tuskegee Civic Assn., organized in retaliation for a new state law which drew in the city limits of Tuskegee to exclude virtually all Negro voters. A small Negro printing shop also was raided.

Initial Phase Completed

Attorney General John Patterson said the raids completed the "initial phase" of his check into "this illegal boycott" of white merchants, which has been under way six weeks. Negroes outnumber whites in the Tuskegee area, and merchants have been hard hit by the loss of trade.

The raids drew immediate response in New York from Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, who termed them "a brazen attempt to control not only the Negro's political expression, but also his basic right to dispose of his economic income as he sees fit."

Were Mistaken

State officials "thought they had crushed the movement of Negro citizens to be rid of discrimination and segregation" when they barred the NAACP from Alabama, Wilkins added, "but the Montgomery and Tuskegee situations proved clearly that they were mistaken."

Patterson, leading the search himself, said certain records were seized, including a membership list of the organization.

MacDonald Gallion, chief assistant attorney general, told United Press today "we are evaluating evidence uncovered so far—documentary evidence and all testimony — with a view toward taking legal action."

Gallion said charges probably will be drawn against the civic association and individuals participating in the boycott.

TAC Officials Victims Of 'A-Attack'

VICTORIA, Tex., July 26 (UP)—Tactical Air Command officials were the "theoretical victims" of an attack by an F-84-F "baby A-bomber" today as the aircraft flashed across Foster Air Force Base at supersonic speed and shot skyward in a simulated attack on the base.

The demonstration was witnessed by Gen. O. P. Weyland, commander of the TAC, and ranking members of his staff from Langley AFB, Va. as part of a two-week test of the composite air strike force known as "Operation Power Pack."

During the exercise F-100 fighters are resting their ability to defend the strike force under simulated small war combat conditions while the F- 84- F fighter bombers are carrying out raids against air fields, bridges, rail junctions and other military targets in a seven-state area.

Texas Senator Prods Cabinet On Oil Imports

WASHINGTON, July 26 (UP)—Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.) today prodded President Eisenhower's cabinet committee on oil imports to act "before the oil industry is completely Bensonized."

In a short Senate speech Yarborough said the farm economy of the Southwest has been brought "to the verge of collapse" by drouths, floods and "the wrecking of the farm support parity program by Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson.

"The other strong prop of our economy, the oil industry, has suffered successive staggering blows by continued increases in oil imports," the Senator said.

Driver Averts Explosion In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, July 26 (UP)—A quick thinking gasoline truck driver, although suffering painful burns, was credited today with averting a major explosion near the downtown area.

The driver, John A. Sitter, 50, was filling an underground tank at a service station. Fumes ignited and flashed up from gasoline spilled on the ground.

Station Owner Tom Snodgrass said Sitter was enveloped in a ball of flame. But he jump into the truck and drove it away rom the underground tank and gas pumps.

Sitter was hospitalized.

ON THE SUNDECK of the S. S. Yarmouth Castle at Miami, Fla., are Mrs. Jessye Graves, Miss Bettye Ross Graves and Mrs. Jamie Brodie, all of Mer Rouge. Just returned from the West Indies. The cruise included Port-au-Prince, Ciudad Trujillo, Curacao and Port Antonio, Jamaica; where they went river-rafting on the Rio Grande, and swam in the fabulous "Twin Pools."

Senior Teen Set Celebrate Birthday Of Miss Ann Neil Tillman, Tuesday, With Unique Pool-Side Party

"Unusual" was the word for the entertainment scheduled for the Senior teen set of Winnsboro, on Tuesday. Unique invitations were sent out reading "On July 23 come in and swim at 8 p.m. - It's to be a party scene, 'Cause Ann Tillman is sweet sixteen."

Ann received her guests at the entrance of the pool and invited them to join in swimming in the cool waters. Music was heard in the background as the group swam in tempo, and played water games

After the swim, Miss Mittie Polk invited everyone to the refreshment buffet. The traditional birthday cake was the eye-catcher on the table. A huge square confection, it was decorated with clusters of tiny pink sugar roses at each corner, and was inscribed with a greeting to the honoree.

The long table was also laden with silver trays of finger foods and icy bottled drinks.

Following the refreshment period, guests were invited to the concrete floored tennis court for dancing.

Those assisting Miss Polk with the courtesies of the evenings entertainment were Mrs. Okla Smith, Mrs. W. W. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Richardson, Mrs. Otis B. Hassell and Roy Stapp.

Guests attending the gala event were: Jimbo Colvin, Lee Lowentritt, Joyce Brent, Velma Ruth Moore, Betty Ruth Wiggins, Sherman Ann Smith, Tucson Dunn, Buddy Ritchie, Cecil Kaufman, Skipper Wollerson, Johnny Ethridge, Tommy Hatfield, Reddock Windham, Billy Wilson, Pete Moore, Guy Luno, Lefty Hassell, Ward Miller, Ann Miller, Edith Jean Hassell,

The Girl Scouts End Day Camp In Show For Adults

The biggest and best day camp of all ended last week with visitors and girls picnicking all over the grounds at supper time. Just before dusk, the closing flag ceremony, in charge of the Rambler unit, was held, with the group in horseshoe formation singing "O Beautiful Banner," followed by the Girl Scout Promise, and "When 'er You Make A Promise," sung in rounds.

Sitting around the campfire circle, the campers sang "Rise Up O Flame," as Sandy Ussery and Barbara Suomi of the Adventurer Unit lighted the fire. Anne McCarty, one of the program aides, welcomed the visitors, after which one girl from each of the five intermediate units told about the work toward the proficiency badge which had been the basis of her unit program. Unit leaders of the groups presented badge certificates to the girls who qualified.

The singing of favorite folk songs by the campers and the dramatization of "Old Woman" made up the program. A surprise feature was the presentation, to the camp director Annis Klie and camp chairman Lucy Huckabee, of gifts from the campers. The girls had certainly kept their secret well, because both recipients were completely surprised - and pleased, Annis with her blue purse and Lucy with her turquoise cardigan.

Somebody with curiosity enough, counted the cars that came into camp and came up with 140. Figure an average of 4 or 5 people to a car and you have some idea of the crowd. Mr. Earl Fisher proved himself a good Scout by directing the parking.

Most of the parents visited their daughter's unit, met her leaders, and commented on the home in the woods the girls had made. Many went to the main building, looked at the baskets the second year Brownie campers had made, the beautiful notebooks made by the units that worked on the tree badge, the rock collections and star maps that campers made in connection with the Rambler Badge.

Camp committee members and staff held their evaluation meeting last week and decided that the camp had fulfilled the objectives of girl Scout camping. The director commended all staff especially because their program was progressive and because it really stressed living in the out of doors.

Saturday Morning Ceremony Unites Miss Rita Barnes And Billy Moore

An impressive Saturday morning service at the West Monroe First Baptist Church united Miss Rita Barnes and Billy Moore. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Randell L. Barnes and the late Mr. Barnes, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Mercer B. Moore and the late Mr. Moore.

Cathedral baskets, tied with broad satin ribbons and filled with creamy gladioli, stood in the chancel against a verdant background lighted with tall burning tapers.

The Rev. Dr. Jaroy Webber officiated at the double - ring ceremony.

The organist, Miss Carole Eady gave the nuptial concert as the candles were being lighted by Miss Nancy Barnes and Donna Moore. They were frocked in pink bouffant dresses, made with fitted bodices, and wore matching shoulder corsages. Miss Eady also accompanied Mrs. Ed Bufkin as she sang "Because of You" and the Lords Prayer at the benediction.

Miss Mary Jane Dressler, the bride's only attendant, wore ice-blue linen frosted in white, with matching accessories and carrying a bouquet of pastel tinted chrysanthemums.

The bride, escorted by J. H. Reppond, was gowned in white lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice, swirling skirt and a cummerbund of white chiffon. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was worn with a tiny starched lace crown. She carried a bride's testament topped with stephanotis and white orchids.

Mrs. Barnes, mother of the bride wore a smart black and white costume worn with white accessories and white 'mums. Mrs. Moore chose a stunning model of mauve lace which she wore with harmonizing accessories and white 'mums.

Reception

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church drawing rooms, which were decorated with the gladioli and baskets.

Te bride's table, laid with white lace was centered with an arrangement of snowy blossoms flanked with tapers, burning in silver holders.

The tiered wedding confection was placed at one end of the table, while the crystal punch bowl was placed at the opposite end.

Miss Anna Rose Camp served the cake, and Miss Charlene Miller presided at the punch service. Miss Gwen Barnes registered the guests.

For her going - away outfit, the bride chose a kitten - gray and white sheath, contrasting accessories, and the orchids from her bouquet.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were: Mrs. Richard Pardue, and daughters; Mrs. Reise Jones and daughter, Mrs. Calvin Reese and Judy, Mr. and Mrs. Orie Baker and Mrs. Billy Jack Baker - all of Shreveport. Mrs. Hershel Pardue and daughter, with Mr. and Mrs. Perry Jones and children of Downsville, Mr. and Mrs. Murl Spurlock and son of Beeville, Texas; Mrs. James David and daughter of Homer, and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Clement and son of New Orleans.

WHY GROW OLD

All Middle-Aged Women Must Do Exercises And Watch Their Diet

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It takes more effort and determination to battle the bulges at middle age than it did in more youthful years. There are several reasons for this.

In the first place, the complexity of running a home and caring for young children causes many women to drop the habit of sports After a day of housekeeping and little children you may not feel entranced at the thought of a game of golf or tennis, a swim or an evening of dancing. Also there is the problem of getting a baby sitter. Many young couples cannot afford this often.

Our glandular systems slow up as we grow older. These two factors can lead to overweight and formerly lithe muscles may gradually become lax and padded with fatty deposits. A woman of middle age simply must give more thought to her diet and exercise unless she is to lose the slim lines of youth.

Middle-aged women need exercise for the sake of health and figure. If you haven't time or money for sports, you would be wise to replace this loss by taking special exercises at home.

If you would like to have my leaflet 'Watchwords of Science for Youth After Forty" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 61 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Plantation Coffee, Dixie Breakfast Honor Miss Elizabeth Yerger, Bride-Elect Of Daniel James Wray

Mrs. George Kimbrough and Mrs. Lloyd Gilbert were co-hostesses when they entertained with a morning coffee, at the Kimbrough plantation home, honoring Miss Elizabeth Yerger, the popular bride-elect of Daniel James Wray.

The refreshment table, covered with a linen cut work cloth was centered with a bouquet of beautiful roses. In addition to coffee delicious punch was served with dainty sandwiches, English biscuits, toasted rolls and marmalade.

The guests included Miss Yerger, her mother, Mrs. George Yerger Jr., Mrs. James Frederick, Mrs. Horace Lee, Mrs. M. A. Phillips, Mrs. Dan James of Vicksburg, Miss Eloise Yerger, Mrs. William Spilman, Mrs. E. A. Buckner, Mrs. John Carpenter, Mrs. Colvin Todd, Mrs. J. E. Neill.

Pippin, Mrs. Will Adams, Mrs. George M. Webb, Mrs. Joe Milton Clark, Mrs. Elmer Neill Jr., and Mrs. Richard Sevier.

Dixie Breakfast

Among the many courtesies extended Miss Elizabeth Yerger during her engagement days was the breakfast at Old Southern Tea Room in Vicksburg with Mrs Preston Herring and Miss Sherrill Herring of Vicksburg as hostesses. For the occasion the honoree was attired in a becoming blue cotton dress complemented with a corsage of small white mums.

White caladium leaves, white zinnias and fern, flanked by white tapers in a candelabra formed the charming centerpiece. At one end was placed the coffee service and at the opposite end a large silver platter held a variety of colorful tortes. Hot cakes were served from a silver chafing dish, along with tiny biscuits, ham and bacon.

Guests enjoying the delightful affair were Miss Yerger, Mrs. George Yerger Jr., Misses Dorothy and Eloise Yerger, Mrs. James, Mrs. Gus Street, Mrs. Carter Stamm, Mrs. P. L. Dent, Mrs. B. B. Martin, Mrs. Lawrence Clark, Miss Sarah Jane Clark, Mrs. Edley Jones, Mrs. Ferdinand Andre, Mrs. Guenivere Grenoe, Mrs. Freddie Deatheridge Mrs. Gary James, and Mrs. George Yerger Sr.

Baptists Send Students To Encampment

Several Northeast State students will go to Glorietta, N. Mex., to participate in activities of Baptist Student Week scheduled August 22-28.

Lonnie Penton, local BSU director, announced that Ruth Collins, Berle Palmer, Eddie Bobo, and Terry Murry will make the trip. They will join Mary Waller and Sara Matkins, also of Northeast, who already are at the Baptist encampment.

The annual event is attended by organizations throughout the southwestern part of the country. College students make up the major part of the number attending the affair.

To Be Featured

Dr. Chester E. Swor, formerly a member of the Mississippi State College faculty, will be a featured speaker, Penton announced. Dr. Swor who has made several appearances at programs in Monroe, has gained wide recognition as a speaker and for his work with young people.

Other well known speakers who will be heard at the encampment include: Dr. Baker J. Cauthen, executive secretary of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board, Prof. J. W. MacGarman, and Fred McCauley.

A seminar on the duties of BSU vice presidents will be headed by Penton.

Reservations for the trip are still being made. The deadline is August 1. Fifty dollars will cover cost of the trip with exception of personal expenses, Penton explained. Reservations can be made through the local Baptist Student Union.

Collinston High Publishes Annual

COLLINSTON (Special)—Glenda Stewart, editor, has just announced completion of the first annual in the history of Collinston High School. The book was completed after school was dismissed and is scheduled for delivery September 10.

This gives the advantage of having the entire school year included in the annual, the editor said.

The first edition of the Nutshell '57 is dedicated to Mrs. W. M. Nolan who is annual advisor. Mrs. Nolan was largely responsible for starting the annual.

Working with Miss Stewart and Mrs. Nolan were Joyce Takewell, assistant editor; Edward Bush, business manager; Sherewood Waits, Robert Harper, Nowayne Johnston, Charles Nichols, Helen Kitchens, Sara Ann Waits, Bessie Harrell, Glenda Ruth Nolan, and Charles McGee.

IN WEST MONROE

Four City Streets Due Resurfacing

Sections of four streets in the business district of West Monroe will be paved at state expense, Wayne Huckaby, district engineer for the department of highways announced this week.

Mayor J. Allen Norris and president of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce, J. W. Roberson, have described the move as "one of the most important and progressive steps ever taken in West Monroe."

The portions of streets to be given a two - inch layer of bituminous hotmix are: Trenton street from Coleman avenue to Bridge street — six blocks of the city's business thoroughfare; Coleman avenue from the west end of the old traffic bridge to where the street becomes four - lane; Natchitoches street between Cypress and Trenton and Claiborne between Cypress and Trenton.

Instructions

Huckaby stated the project was presented to state highway Fred Hill of Monroe, who is a director R. B. Richardson by member of the state highway board. As a result of Richardson's approval, Huckaby said he received instructions from the chief highway engineer to proceed with plans. Contracts for the paving project, which will cost in the neighborhood of $18,619.20, will be awarded in the state's August contract lettings, the local district engineer said.

Mayor Norris pointed out that the state's approval of the new project will eliminate gaps of rough stretches along routes of principal streets traversing the city.

Barnett Speaker At Ferriday Club

FERRIDAY (Special) — The Ferriday Kiwanis Club held its regular meeting on Wednesday night, instead of Thursday, due to the baseball tournament. The majority of the members are following their Kiwanis sponsored All Star team through the playoffs.

Speaking to the club was J. B. Barnett, who just recently returned from France where he was an advisor for the laying of the biggest pipeline crossing in Europe. Barnett gave a very interesting talk on the laying of the line, and on the experiences of a man in a foreign country.

He had some very amusing experiences, and was complimentary to the French people and the way he was treated.

The speaker at the regular meeting next Thursday will be Elliott Trimble, editor of the Natchez Times, who will speak on Good Public Relations.

HAIR RAISING STORY

CHICAGO (UP) — A Chicago housewife can't explain the long and short of it to her husband; Mrs. Lillian Paskuly's daughter Georgene, 13, has braids 37 inches long. Another daughter's hair extends well below her waist. Mrs. Paskuly said her husband's "hair is getting thin now, and he keeps asking what our secret is."

DESPITE PROTEST

State Goes Ahead With Plans To Lower Flags

BATON ROUGE, July 26 (AP) — Maj. Gen. Raymond Hufft, state adjutant general, today gave the go-ahead to a planned United States flag-lowering memorial to victims of Hurricane Audrey.

Hufft said critics of the mourning gesture, set for tomorrow, "should check their regulations before sounding off."

The adjutant general seconded an earlier statement by the governor's office that Gov. Earl Long got proper permission before ordering the flag-lowering.

Both state and national ensigns will be lowered to half staff in Louisiana tomorrow — just one month after the maverick hurricane left more than 500 dead or missing and destroyed property valued in the millions.

A Houma Veterans of Foreign Wars post protested that the flag lowering would be improper.

But Hufft said this was not the case, and that he got clearance for Gov. Long from both the Department of Defense's Public Information Office and the State Department's procotol section ahead of time.

All military installations in Louisiana, Hufft said, will take part in the ceremony.

Houma's Bergeron - Bonvillian VFW post 3,700 sent its protest to the governor in a telegram yesterday. Its auxiliary sent a similar protest to President Eisenhower by letter.

John English, Americanism chairman, said the VFW unit thought such a display would be a breach of flag etiquette. And Charles Perrilous of Baton Rouge, state VFW commander, agreed that, "Technically, Mr. English is correct."

Gehr's Statement

In Monroe, state American Legion commander M. C. Gehr said the move may not be in accord with flag etiquette, but Hurricane Audrey caused a "terrible catastrophe" and he thought "the state and the entire nation should mourn the loss of life and property. . . ."

The Legion was holding its state convention at Monroe.

Perriloux said until the flag code were changed "we should abide by the rules as they are."

"However," he added, "I'm sure the governor and the President have taken all things into consideration and that special dispensation has been granted to provide observance for this occasion."

If the governor obtained permission from the President, he said, then the VFW throughout Louisiana would abide by the governor's proclamation.

The state VFW commander said "We are all in deep sympathy with the people in Cameron, including Mr. English."

Quizzing Of Girl Killer Continues

BURLINGAME, Calif., July 26 (UP) —Police and psychiatrists alternated today in questioning of a teen-age girl who admitted killing her beautiful roommate with a flatiron and kitchen knife Wednesday and then calmly sleeping in the murder bed.

Elaine Soule, 19-year-old typist from Freeport, Long Island, N.Y., said she killed Catherine (Kit) Marie Elvins, 20, socialite daughter of a prominent Seattle, Wash., physician, to get an unendorsed check for $160 to pay "pressing debts."

Police, who called the slaying one of the most brutal in San Mateo county history, said Miss Soule smashed the heavy iron into her roommate's head repeatedly and then stabbed her again and again with a kitchen knife as she lay in bed Wednesday morning.

Dragged Body into Kitchen

Miss Soule said Miss Elvins spoke only once and said:

"What are you doing?"

The body bore 26 wounds on the head from the flatiron, one of which had cracked her skull. There wer also 20 stab wounds in her breast, six of them deep and 14 what police called "hesitation scratches," superficial wounds apparently made as Miss Soule steadied her nerves.

According to District Attorney Keith Sorenson, Miss Soule then wrapped the body in a blanket and dragged it into the kitchen.

After cleaning up the bedroom, its walls bloodied by the brutal slaying, Miss Soule took the $160 check her roommate had received Tuesday from her mother, Mrs. Richard E. Elvins, and went to San Francisco to cash it.

Slept in Murder Bed

She told police she tried five banks but was unable to get the check cashed — presumably because the check was made out to Catherine Marie Elvins and Miss Soule's forged endorsement used only the first two initials and the last name.

Disappointed, she returned to Burlingame and slept that night in the cleaned-up bed while her roommate's body lay on the kitchen floor.

The next day she went to the apartment of her sister, Mrs. J.R. Ward, in the same building and told her:

"Something terrible has happened."

When Mrs. Ward wormed out of her what the "something terrible" was, she called police.

Justice Stanley Forman Reed was Solicitor General of the United States when President Roosevelt named him to the Supreme Court in 1938.

BLASTS RIGHTS BILL

McClellan Says Proposal Vicious And Dangerous

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 26 (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) revealed here tonight that if the civil rights bill is approved with the provision which would bar jury trials in certain civil rights cases, he will offer an amendment designed to extend the provision to the Smith Antisubversive Act.

The Senate now is debating whether to guarantee trial by jury in some cases involving alleged violations of civil rights.

McClellan, in an address to a state convention of the American Legion, denounced the civil rights bill as "the most vicious piece of legislation that I have ever seen presented to the Congress."

The Arkansas senator said the language of the "abominable" bill was so "cunningly contrived and arranged as to reflect that the intention of the author of it was to conceal, rather than reveal its true objectives..."

Force Use

McClellan told the legionnaires that the measure first was presented by the administration as a "right-to-vote" bill, but has been exposed in Senate debate as having the primary purpose "to implement the Supreme Court's decision on segregation and thus force integration" of Southern public schools.

He said the Senate debate further disclosed that the bill:

1. Authorized the use of the armed forces to impose school integration.

2. Contained an "infamous device" that would destroy the right to trial by jury as guaranteed by the Constitution to everyone accused of a crime.

3. Would substitute injunctive processes in a court of equity and contempt proceedings therein for the traditional system of indictment by a grand jury and trial of an accused person by a jury of his peers.

4. Gave the attorney general the power and made it his duty to file suits against any citizen "who someone may charge has deproved him of, or hindered him in securing, any of his so-called civil rights."

McClellan said the bill would "virtually set up a Gestapo department in the Department of Justice" with authority to "hound, harass and intimidate good law-abiding citizens of this country."

Official Says Time To Stop Gravel Debate

NEW ROADS, La., July 26 (AP)—Dist. Atty. Ferd C. Claiborne of Point Coupee Parish, a member of the Democratic Central Committee, said today he thought it was time to settle "once and for all" the controversy over Democratic national committeeman Camille Gravel.

"I feel it would be extremely ill-advised to permit this controversy to continue to be aired piecemeal in the newspapers," Claiborne said he wrote central committee chairman Rufus Hayes.

Segregationists are seeking Gravel's ouster as committeeman because of his announced support of the civil rights program pending in Congress.

Hayes previously said he would not call a special central committee meeting unless a majority of committee members request it.

Two Senators Dispute SRC Vote Claims

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—Sens. Olin Johnston (D-SC) and Sparkman (D-Ala) today disputed estimates by the Southern Regional Council that only part of the eligible Negroes in southern states are permitted to register to vote.

In an offshoot of the civil rights debate, Johnston said the reports on Negro voting "are highly misleading, in error, and in fact were distorted purposely, in order to slander the South."

He said the figures, publicized in the Senate by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill), "for the most part, were pulled from the air and are, in fact, as meaningless as an estimate of the number of grains of salt in the ocean would be."

Sparkman, in an earlier Senate exchange with Douglas, estimated that 1,500 Negroes are registered to vote in his home county of Morgan in Alabama. He said the Southern Council report cited by Douglas showed no registered Negro votes with some 4,641 estimated eligible.

Collins To Speak About Cameron

Neal Collins of Lakeshore Drive will be featured speaker Sunday morning at 9:30 at the Lakeshore Baptist Church, where he will describe his trip to Cameron, and the devastation left there by the recent hurricane.

His appearance will be in cooperation with a program being carried on by the church to collect funds for assistance of the hurricane disaster victims.

Council Says Kasper Sent To Stir Up Strife

CLARKSVILLE, Va., July 26 (AP)—The Mecklenburg County Citizens Council charged tonight that John Kasper is "a troublemaker dispatched to the South by northern integrationists" to "make radicals of decent, law-abiding citizens."

The council said in a resolution that Kasper "has accomplished what he went South to do." It said he has done more to promote racial integration in the South than the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

Kasper, 27, and six co-defendants were convicted in Knoxville, Tenn., Tuesday in the Clinton criminal contempt trial. They were charged with interfering with the racial integration of Clinton High School.

The 125 persons attending tonight's meeting unanimously adopted the resolution. Council members pledged attendance at any meeting in Virginia which Kasper conducts to "expose him for what he is."

Thirsty After 30-Foot Fall

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., July 26 (UP)—Jack Holzer, 36, fell 35 feet into the city water tower as he was cleaning it, was taken to a hospital, and asked immediately for a glass of water.

"That fall made me awfully thirsty," he said.

Painful, too. The tank was empty.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Flames Almost Destroy House In West Monroe

A fire of undetermined origin nearly destroyed a home at 508 Splane drive in West Monroe last night.

Engine companies 4 and 6 were dispatched to the blaze at 10 p.m. The resident, Jack Hampton, stated that he had been asleep and nearly smothered to death by the smoke from the fire, which apparently started in the living room of the house.

Next-door neighbors said that they had noticed the smell of smoke for approximately one-half hour before they heard the fire engines roar up. They then looked out and saw flames pouring from the roof of the home.

The fire was under control and almost out by 10:30 p.m., but it appeared that the inside of the house had been gutted by the flames. Furniture carried from the home was nearly ruined by the fire.

Homecoming, Singing Meet

The annual homecoming at Old Union Baptist Church in Ward 9 of Caldwell parish will be held this Sunday. The church is located about 10 miles west of Grayson, just off the Grayson-Sikes blacktop highway. Scheduled in connection with the home-coming is the Tri-parish singing convention comprising the parishes of Caldwell, Winn and Jackson. Singing will be held Saturday night and Sunday. Dudley M. May is president of the group.

Teamsters May Boycott Union Meet

WASHINGTON, July 26 (UP)—Leaders of the giant Teamsters Union plan to boycott next week's AFL—CIO corruption hearing on grounds they need more time to prepare a reply to the charges, a spokesman disclosed today.

A. J. Hayes, chairman of the AFL—CIO Ethical Practices Committee, has advised the Teamsters he would proceed with the investigation with or without their presence.

A spokesman said the union requested that the hearing, set for next Thursday, be postponed. The Teamster executive board meets Aug. 5. He said the board has not had a chance to consider its reply to the corruption charges filed by the AFL—CIO last May.

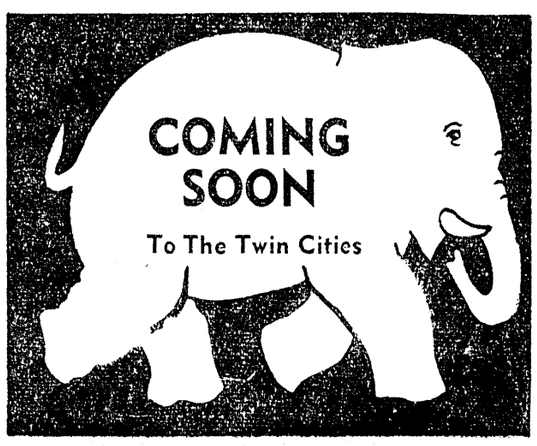
Hayes said his committee would consider letting the Teamsters officials testify at a later date. But he said that did not mean the committee would hold up its report to the AFL—CIO Executive Council, which meets Aug. 12 in Chicago.

Water Supply In West Monroe Said Adequate

With new facilities added recently and all water tanks filled to capacity for the first time this week, West Monroe is assured of an adequate supply for the summer, it was reported yesterday by J. O. Fleming, superintendent of the water department.

Fleming said three new tanks built during the past year now assured the city three million gallons of water. "For many years West Monroe had to rely on a single tank with only 100,000-gallon capacity. This was wholly inadequate and the city suffered a water shortage each summer," he added.

The superintendent said the addition of water meters in the newer sections of the city was "a great help" to his department.



Play Safe While You Drive!

Keep alert—chew gum

Avoid traffic jitters and driving drowsiness. Chew gum while you're behind the wheel. Chewing helps relieve strain and tension—helps keep you feeling fresh and alert for safer driving.

Chew any brand of gum you like but chew while you drive. Naturally, we recommend refreshing, delicious Wrigley's Spearmint Gum—for lively, satisfying flavor and real chewing enjoyment.

The Twin Cities YMCA and YWCA are participating members in the United Givers Fund of Ouachita Parish.

Firemen Battle Stubborn Blaze In Store Room

Firemen fought for more than one hour yesterday to put out a stubborn fire which was blazing in the storage room of a carport at a Bon Air Drive residence.

The fire at the home of three teachers identified only as Miss Hart, Miss Kelso and Miss Shaw, was discovered by a neighbor. The residents were out of town at the time of the blaze.

Engine company 105 was dispatched to the home at 6:30 p.m., and firemen did not return to their station until a few minutes before 8 p.m. Chief H. L. Hales was also at the scene.

The neighbor, who makes a regular check on the home and discovered the flames, told firemen that she believed it started from a carelessly thrown cigarelle. She stated that two Negro boys had been cutting the grass at the house earlier in the afternoon, and that they had been smoking cigarettes while walking in and out of the storage room.

Damage was limited to one wall and some wiring in the storage room.

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Accident investigation officers Robert Pardini and Robert Spottswood believe that a policeman's work is never done. They were returning to police headquarters after acting as technical advisors for location shots in San Francisco for CBS-TV's "Lineup" when they saw a man trying to climb over a fence. They stopped him, and he admitted he had just committed a grocery store holdup.

FELLED IN HOLDUP ATTEMPT — George Larned, 32, receives emergency treatment at a hospital yesterday after he was gunned down during an attempted holdup of a Manhattan cafe. Larned had been the object of a manhunt on Long Island since July 10 when he exchanged shots with officers during a burglary at Baldwin, L.I. Police bullets apparently paralyzed the man from the waist down as he was captured yesterday. (AP Wirephoto). (See wire story)

'WANTS TO DIE'

Gunman Shotdown As Climax To 16-Day Hunt

NEW YORK, July 26 (UP)—A to day manhunt for George Fal Larned ended today when the gunman came out of hiding to pull a cheap stickup. A policeman's bullet that felled him in a gutter may paralyze him for life.

Surgeons who examined him said they believed Larned's spinal cord was completely severed by the shot. If so, they added, he will never walk again.

"Mom, I'm going to be crippled for life," the wounded bandit told his gray-haired, 70-year-old mother, Mary. She visited him in Knickerbocker Hospital after he was captured during the early morning holdup of a luncheonette on Upper Broadway.

"If that's so, you'll have a home with me as long as I live," she reassured him. But she told newsmen: "His life is no good to him any more . . . . I'd rather God take him than the law."

Larned, 32, had been outside since he shot his way to freedom on Long Island July 10 when he killed a policeman and wounded another.

He was surprised in the burglary of a Baldwin, N. Y., home.

He was shot in the pelvis in that gun battle. A force of 200 law enforcement officers spread a manhunt for traps in the days that followed, without catching Larned.

The fugitive's pregnant wife, Lillian, 18, was seized July 15 and held as a material witness. She was released on $500 bail after his capture and visited him in the hospital.

The stocky, blonde girl, who expects her baby within a week, told newsmen: "He didn't look so good. He knew me, he told me he loved me and missed me. He told me he may be paralyzed but I'll stick by him although we have no plans for the future. I thought he was dead until this morning . . . and I was glad to hear he was alive."

She denied a report that Larned had vowed to her he never would be taken alive.

"He never discussed wanting to die," he had no grudges," she added.

Judge Cuts Off Sweet Daddy's Baptismal Water

DETROIT, July 26 (UP) — Ordinance Magistrate John D. Watts cut off Sweet Daddy Grace's baptismal water today.

Watts revoked the Negro religious leader's city permit to use a fire hose and hydrant for mass outdoor baptism. He also revoked Sweet Daddy's sound truck permit and ordered the sect's religious services be held inside a one-time theater—converted into a church for followers of the House of Prayer.

Watts acted on a complaint filed against Sweet Daddy, two elders and the congregation by residents of the northwest side Negro district.

Sweet Daddy was represented in court by elder Claude Wilkerson.

"We come not to disturb but to make people happy and full of joy," Wilkerson declared.

Mrs. Melba Campbell, a principal witness against Sweet Daddy, said "the only thing we neighbors want is for Sweet Daddy and his people to go into the place quietly and close the door."

Twelve other residents and two police sergeants told the court that a sound truck followed by a jazz band paraded around the area during Sweet Daddy's "crusade."

They said that from 9 a.m. until noon Sunday, July 14, Sweet Daddy baptized 50, shouting, handclapping followers with a stream pumped through a fire hose from a fire hydrant while a band played rock 'n' roll versions of hymns.

Sweet Daddy came to Detroit last year and purchased the converted theatre and a palatial home from Prophet Jones, another Negro religious leader.

Editor Blasted By Sheriff For Stand On Vice

RICHMOND, Tex., July 26 (UP) — Weekly publisher Clymer Wright said today he considered as a "high tribute" the county sheriff's charge that he was "no newspaperman."

Wright is in a feud with the sheriff over vice and gambling in Fort Bend county, long considered as part of the Gulf Coast vice rings that flourished out of Galveston.

Sheriff R. Z. Cowart posted a notice that he would fire any deputy who gave news to the county weekly newspaper. The sheriff acted after the Fort Bend Reporter published criticism of law enforcement officers for allowing alleged vice conditions to exist in the county.

Work To Start On Gilbert Road

BATON ROUGE (Special) —W. H. Huckaby, district engineer of the Louisiana Department of Highways, has been authorized to begin work on blacktopping of seven-tenths of a mile of streets in Gilbert, R. B. Richardson, director of highways, has announced.

Estimated cost of the work is $7,138. All work will be done by department crews with state materials and equipment. The town of Gilbert is to reimburse the department $1,500.

White Hair Of Aged Man Turning Black

By OTIS HASSELL
(Staff Correspondent)

WINNSBORO, (Special) —"The only thing I know that could be causing my hair to turn black is those blood transfusions they gave me." This was the explanation given by Dr. L. J. Sanders, 91, year old retired Franklin parish physician as to the reason his thick, soft hair, which had been brown until it turned grey, then white 10 years ago, was turning black. Dr. Sanders, after suffering severe hemorrhages of the colon, was given three pints of blood in 1955, and eight more pints in July of 1956.

Dr. and Mrs. Sanders live in their comfortable farm home three miles south of Fort Necessity. He is unable to see, but with the help of a hearing aid he enjoys talking to visitors and listening to the radio, and he is never without a good chew of tobacco. The radio and tobacco is provided by Charles Harris of Jigger. It was Dr. Sanders who made it possible for Harris to go into business by furnishing lumber for his first little store at Jigger.

The couple were married on May 7, 1916, and do not have any children, but Dr. Sanders is the father of six children by a former marriage. Mrs. Sanders said her husband's hair, which has black streaks and patches in it now and is dark around the temples, first started turning dark about eight months ago.

Dr. Sanders has practiced general medicine in Franklin parish since 1916. He made his calls on horse back and in model T. Fords. In 1930 he gave up general practice and opened up a sawmill. However, he continued to do office work and still keeps up his license, but it has been two years since he has been able to treat patients. He has delivered 1,776 babies and never lost a mother or child, except when the baby was born dead.

Dr. Sanders was born in Jackson parish on June 15, 1866. At the age of 37 he had completed 15 years work with the Kirby Sawmill Co. in Texas. He developed heart trouble and was unable to continue this type of work. It was then he decided to become a doctor. His medical education was paid for by John Henry Kirby.

He received his degree in medicine and pharmacy from the Gate City Medical College at Texarkana, Texas, in 1907, and his M. D. degree from the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Memphis, Tenn., in 1911. He passed the Louisiana State Medical Board examination the same year by making a grade of 90 per cent on a 100 question test which was given at New Orleans.

In addition to his medical practice, Dr. Sanders is also an expert photographer and musician. He plays the banjo and violin. Since his health has failed him the Doctor has presented his violin to Franklin Parish Sheriff Hiram B. Waller, who is also a natural - born musician.
